A traffic violation stop on Interstate 10 in the early hours of Friday, led to the seizure of 100 pounds of marijuana and the arrest of three illegal aliens, according to Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber.

Garber said, "Lt. Jimmy Esposito stopped a 1995 Ford Windstar Van with a Texas license plate for a traffic violation around 2:20 a.m."

"The vehicle's driver, Selvin Alvares, 25; passengers Frank Maheva, 23 and Edilberto Guzman, 39, all residents of Texas and illegal aliens, were arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver (marijuana)," Garber's report said.

Officers reported that it was unknown where the trio were in route too, due to con-

School board may be able to appoint chief

BY SHANNON JENKINS

Voting for Hancock County's Superintendent of Education may be a thing of the past after the Nov. 4 election.

Appointing, rather than electing the superintendent, has been an issue the school board has chewed on from time to time beginning eight years ago, said board president Peggy Ladner.

The board looked into the matter again three years ago and most recently in January of this year when newly-elected board member Morgan Ladner reopened the discussion of the board attorney's previous research on a state statute, which discusses the

The long awaited spay/neuter clinic at the Waveland Animal Shelter officially opened its doors on Friday. The clinic, will be run by area vets H. W. Le Bourgeois, Charles West, Matt Moore Jennifer Hendrix and Heather Zuvers, who will volunteer their services one day a week for spay and neuter services. If needed the clinic may open two days a week, said shelter director Rene Lick. The clinic will be used exclusively to provide spay/neuter services to animals adopted at the shelter. On October 1st adoption charges went up to $65. The charge will include the spay/neuter, shots, rabies vaccination, worming, flea bath, and vet exam. Murphy Elem. earns state award for school-community partnership

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Charles B. Murphy Elementary was recognized on Oct. 27 at the 19th Annual Partners in Education Seminar.

The school claimed the elementary division of the third annual Governor's Awards for Outstanding School-Community Partnerships for establishing a mini-bank and working with several businesses to do so.

Jeanne Brooks, the school librarian and district parent coordinator, said this project began through a grant.

"I've written several grants for the school and try to bring things to our students that they, in a rural somewhat isolated community, wouldn't have," she said. "This particular grant was written to establish a working mini-bank in the school."

Gulf Coast Business Services in Gulfport funded a grant called "Investing in Our Future." Brooks then worked with Home Depot in Slidell to get basic cabinets. Custom Countertops and Cabinets in Waveland took the cabinets and converted them into "bank facilities or teller stands," Brooks said.

Towns Logistics in Slidell and M&B Truck Sales in Birmingham, Ala., deposited a dollar from each company into the children's accounts.

"Hancock Bank agreed to provide the bank services and bank tellers to work in the bank on bank days and waive the normal fees associated with minor accounts," she said. "Parents then came to the school, opened accounts and students add to their accounts on bank days."

Brooks said the accounts stay with the children as they grow and mature, and deposits may only be made at school. Students make deposits once a month before school, receive real bank statements and have working accounts, she said.

"The purpose was to provide a sense of financial literacy and instill in our students the value of money and the purpose in saving," Brooks said. "We address Mississippi benchmarks through the curriculum in informal and formal ways. Careers are explored from banking to construction as children see how a bank comes to life."

Field trips, speakers, etc., are also available from the bank.

"Time management is also addressed as students learn when the bank is open and learn to be on time with their deposits," she said.

In a school of only 117 students and probably 60-70 families, Brooks said there are currently about 50 accounts.

"This has been extremely successful and a source of pride," she said.

"The governor's award for Mississippi Partnerships in Education was an added surprise."

Registration opens for library's Holiday Tree Gala

Registration is now open for the Hancock County Library System's 2003 Holiday Tree Gala, set for Sunday, December 7, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

Businesses, organizations and schools wishing to participate in this year's event are urged to register early. Locations for the trees are on a first come, first served basis. Tree categories include three-foot and six-foot trees, with or without lights. Trees may be artificial or live. Decorations can be traditional or indicative of your business, organization or school. More than 70 businesses, organizations and schools displayed trees at the library last year, and more than 800 people visited the library that day to view the trees.

For more, contact Jamie Elston at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library at 467-5282 by Friday, November 21.

St. Vincent de Paul at OLG and St. Clare work together

The St. Vincent de Paul Societies of Our Lady of the Gulf and St. Clare Catholic parishes will combine efforts with the Hancock County Food Pantry this year in the preparation and distribution of Thanksgiving groceries.

Representatives of the three groups said that growing needs in the county dictate the necessity for the combined effort.

OLG and St. Clare will collect food as usual at Masses on the weekend before Thanksgiving, Nov. 22, 23. They will transfer the collected food to the Food Pantry and also provide vouchers for turkeys, chickens or hams.

Food Pantry volunteers will assemble boxes of groceries which will be distributed between the hours from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday (Nov. 24, 25, 26) before Thanksgiving. The pantry is located at 306 Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis.

Applicants need not apply in advance as in the past, but must have a current photo identification (preferably driver's license) and social security numbers in order to receive groceries. Only Hancock residents are eligible.

The three organizations said: "Generous giving by parishioners of OLG and St. Clare and by those regularly helping the Food Pantry have made Thanksgiving food possible over the years.

"What we add now to the mix is greater coordination and manpower."

Cuevas' Quotes

Don't forget to vote Nov. 4

Tuesday is the long awaited election day when the qualified electors of Mississippi will elect someone for almost every post from Governor to Constable.

In Hancock County there are 26 voting precincts and they will be open Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In our county, most positions have two and a couple races, three candidates viewing for a spot.

Those elected will serve our county for the next four years, as well as the candidates elected to state and district slots.

So, be sure to remind your relatives, friends and neighbors the importance of voting Tuesday.

If someone does not have transportation to the polls, you may want to offer them a ride.

Hopefully, we will have a higher voting percentage of the qualified electors on Tuesday then we had in the primary elections.

The candidates have been working hard in their respective campaigns. It has been a long while since the final day for qualifying.

Please vote Tuesday for the candidates of your choice.

Well, we have flipped over another page on the 2003 calendar year, with only one more to go.

We are now closing in on the Thanksgiving holidays and it will not be long before Christmas and the new year.

As our community grows, so does shopping opportunities. It seems just about every week there is a grand opening for a new business, which is good for us in so many ways.

Hopefully, more and more folks will be shopping-at-home, as this will help interest new other businesses to come to town. Not to mention the increase in employment opportunities, sales taxes for schools and governmental agencies.

At our home stores too, we find out neighbors and friends working and many times get just that little 'extra' when we shop.

So, when you start thing about Christmas shopping in the weeks ahead, consider our local merchants first.

Do not forget the St. Clare Catholic Church's Fair which continues through today.

Events begin at noon and go through 6 p.m.

There will be good foods, live entertainment, crafters, carnival rides, fun, prizes and surprises.

We hope to see you at the Church Fair this afternoon.

Blueprint Mississippi

An editorial in a Mississippi newspaper this week said that jobs were the top issue important to Mississippians right now, and that politicians have little control over job creation and the economy.

Well, I agree that jobs are the most important concern to Mississippians, but I don't subscribe to the notion that Mississippi's economic picture is at the mercy of fate, beyond the power of any Mississippiian to influence. We can do better. We must do better. Mississippians control our own destiny. We have the power to create a newer, better, brighter economic picture if we have a plan like "Blueprint Mississippi" - a comprehensive job creation strategy being crafted right now by a number of our state's business leaders, public officials and universities.

Attracting new jobs starts with being honest with ourselves. It's been four years since Mississippi won Nissan, but with hardly a notice we've lost two major automotive manufacturing plants to other states since, as well as several other non-automotive projects. This should be a sign to us that we must change our approach. An organized, comprehensive plan like "Blueprint Mississippi" is our first step.

For the first time, Mississippi will have a jobs plan that gives us measurable standards on which to gauge our economic development progress and tweak our efforts.

It will give us charted goals that articulate

Tort Reform - the biggest lie ever sold

It is my sincere hope that the people of Mississippi realize that the current version of tort reform being pushed by Amy Tuck and the like is nothing more than a continuation of this administration's belief in the power and control of big business.

It is the biggest lie ever sold. Mississippi does need a tort reform bill. The state needs a bill that will address the issues exactly as they are spelled out. Frivolous lawsuits need to be stopped. But how does it help the average citizen who can not find a job or health insurance in the first place if now they must also be punished or even a legitimate lawsuit? $250,000 is the current amount.

If you have ever had the wrong organ removed or been turned away from a hospital because you did not have insurance you have to wonder how this helps you. The problem of high insurance premiums you solve the problem of doctors leaving the coast.

So why not look at a plan to do just that? We can always address bad attorneys by punishing bad attorneys. Seems simple enough. My point: if we all contributed to the problem, why is that we are not all having to make sacrifices?

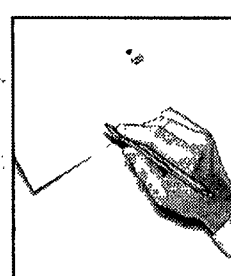

Once again the average citizen get stuck with the unfair consequences and cost that they really cannot afford to defend themselves against. We need tort reform; we do not need to be made fools of.

Why does it cost so much to move?

Dear Editor,

How many people in Hancock County understand what all it takes to move legally?

Well, if no one has moved lately let me take you through the steps to the POOR HOUSE. First, let me inform everyone these steps are put in motion by the people we have elected in Hancock County.

1. Locate a place to move.
2. Deposit on electricity (one power company is owned by the people of Hancock County).

3. A zoning permit ($40.00)

4. Taxes on property.

5. Garbage pick-up (that office is a mess).

6. Sewage deposit and hook-up.

7. then there is the phone company ($46.00 just to transfer you number. Of course this is not the county's fault).

8. And now this takes the cake. In order to rent a where we want to be in the quest for jobs five or ten years from now.

"Blueprint Mississippi" is an economic development strategy that can be long term, productive and applicable to every region of our state.

It will ensure that each region gets its fair share of attention. One of my concerns with regard to Mississippi's job creation effort lately is that some areas are being left out or underutilized.

A report by the Associated Press this week indicated that while Mississippi's job growth overall remains flat, our few bright spots are centered only in metro areas, with rural areas being left out. We've got to spread growth more evenly.

Portions of South Mississippi and East Mississippi have tremendous potential, but their capacity remains to be exploited. We must also better develop Southwest Mississippi and the Delta while building and preserving successes we've seen in places like Tupelo, DeSoto County, the Gulf Coast and the Jackson suburbs.

While government cannot directly create private sector jobs, it can sure lay the foundation for them. Our state's political leaders can make a great impact on our economic future, and "Blueprint Mississippi" recognizes this fact.

It is compatible with the things that Senator Cochran, Congressman Chip Pickering, Congressman Roger Wicker and I are doing to promote job growth.

For instance, I've been working very hard in recent years focusing on two key foundations for job creation which are within my influence as your senator: improving education and improving transportation. "Blueprint Mississippi" will focus on these areas, too.

Before the end of this year, Blueprint Mississippi's participants will compile a list of major economic development, business and educational concerns which Mississippi should address. By early next year, we hope to begin action on these specific concerns.

I'll continue looking for ways to help Mississippi attract new jobs through my contacts in Washington. Most recently the Senate passed this year's transportation appropriations bill.

It contains funds for various road and airport projects throughout our state, all of which will improve access and safety, but also help local communities' efforts to attract jobs.

Improvements to the interchanges around the Jackson Metro Area, new bridges like the new Pascagoula U.S. 90 Bridge and airport improvements statewide will show prospective companies that Mississippi has a positive, pro-business atmosphere and that we're willing to build infrastructure to maintain and support the jobs they create.

For the long term future, Congressman Roger Wicker, Congressman Chip Pickering, Senator Cochran and I continue to work hard for the creation of new interstates that will serve our state and attract new economic life, including I-69 which can rejuvenate the Delta, and new interstates that will strengthen links between Mississippi and industrial corridors in neighboring states, including two interstate projects that will better connect Northeast Mississippi and East Mississippi to Birmingham, Montgomery and Atlanta.

Mississippians need jobs right now, but we are not at the mercy of some unknown, uncontrollable economic tide. Mississippi's politicians, business leaders, educators and workers can together create a brighter future for our state. That future starts with recognizing where we are, where we need to be and putting a measurable plan in place to help us get there - a plan like "Blueprint Mississippi." 10/30/03

NRL Reservist aids in homeland defense efforts

Lt. Cdr. Rich Kottke, a Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) reserve officer, recently completed a project for manipulation of geographic imagery that has helped the Department of Homeland Security test actions against a potential biological attack. Lt. Cdr. Kottke supported the Geographic Information Database (GIDB) Portal here at NRL, Stennis Space Center - a project that provides a common user interface for map-oriented geographic information.

GIDB, developed by NRL's Digital Mapping, Charting and Geodesy Branch, brings together far flung data sources, accessible via servers at NRL and the World Wide Web, and presents them under one user interface.

Lt. Cdr. Kottke's role in the GIDB project team was to write a software driver to fetch generic images from the Web, geo-correct and format them for use in GIDB, and present them via the GIDB front end.

The GIDB driver has been expanded to include six different mathematical transforms and hundreds of different images.

Some of the images in the catalog include National Weather Service RADAR, GOES satellite images, highway traffic congestion maps, sea surface temperature, sea surface wind, earthquake maps, and wild-fire detections.

Images accessed via this driver can be merged with other images of interest, zoomed, and measured. The user has a vast array of maps and images available via GIDB - all scaled and sized the same.

For example, a fire prediction map can be overlaid by a weather RADAR image to see where rain may help the firefighting effort. A LANDSAT photographic image of site can be overlaid with the current satellite cloud cover image to show if various targets are cloudy or in the clear. "The uses are limited only by the user's imagination," said Kottke, "and no expensive image processing workstations are required." Images from multiple sources, that would previously have required different dedicated workstations to view, can be fused into one common interface.

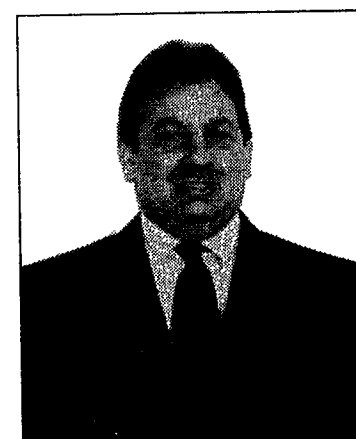

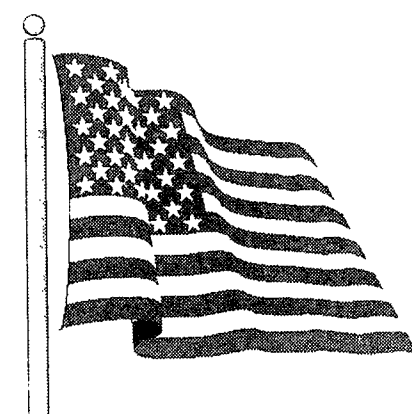

The GIDB Portal software, including Lt. Cdr. Kottke's driver, was used extensively during Fleet Battle Experiment Kilo in the western Pacific, and TOPOFF-2, a Homeland Defense Exercise that simulated chemical and biological releases in Seattle and Chicago.

His work continues to be used by the National Guard Counter Drug program as well as in ongoing NRL research.

This software, as well as information about the project and team members, is available at <http://dmap.nrlssc.navy.mil>.

NRL is the Department of the Navy and Marine Corps corporate laboratory. It is the principal in-house component of the Office of Naval Research's effort to meet its science and technology requirements toward maritime applications of new and improved materials, techniques, equipment, systems, and ocean, atmospheric, and space sciences and related technologies.

Stanislaus students fulfill 'Day of Service'

On Friday, October 24th, the classrooms of St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis were empty. The students in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades were observed boarding busses while the students in the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th grades were gathering for a day of spiritual recollection.

For the last three years St. Stanislaus has conducted a DAY OF SERVICE once a year for all of its students in an effort to have them experience first hand the types of community services offered by not-for-profits both on the Gulf Coast and in New Orleans. On two specific days during the year, all of the Stanislaus boys will be either on retreat or out in the community experiencing various types of service. The organizations visited for service experience vary from Goodwill Industries to nursing homes to Ronald McDonald House, to South Mississippi Aids Task Force to a number of other such groups.

As a young man joins the St. Stanislaus student body, he is assigned to a small mutual support group (called a PRAYER GROUP), which remains together for the entire Stanislaus experience, under a specific faculty prayer group leader. Besides the two activities mentioned above (Day of Service and Day of Recollection) there are typically four to five meetings to provide mutual support among the students. The leader is an unofficial counselor and older friend for the students.

The students choose their service destination. Two groups on October 24 selected Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi. Brother Harold Harris' seven tenth graders went to the Bay St. Louis store to participate in truck unloading, processing donations, cleaning the store and merchandising products for sale. Assistant Development Director and Public Relations Director Amy Pentimonti brought her seven students to the Gulfport Plant and Store to experience processing materials, shipping finished products, cleaning and merchandising in a Goodwill store.

Merrick Young, from Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia and only four months in the United States, had heard of Goodwill but had no idea of the work involved in preparing the donated merchandise of sale in the Goodwill store. John Paul Dupont from Houma, Louisiana had a good idea of the jobs and work involved from his past experience as a volunteer at a Goodwill store. Geun Choi, from Seoul, South Korea, also knew of Goodwill but did not realize the work and jobs needed to ready the donations for sale at Goodwill.

St. Stanislaus views this program as just one part of its many efforts to help its students become "men of character".

Experience the 'Artistic Energy' of Ilona Royce-Smithkin in Bay St. Louis

THE SEA COAST ECHO

When Ilona Royce-Smithkin came to Bay St. Louis last November, she swooped dramatically into town and captured everyone with her infectious spirit. A celebrated artist and teacher, Ilona R.S., as she is known, currently maintains studios and resides in New York and Cape Cod. However, she often travels and teaches in various locations around the country and abroad, accepting students at all levels of artistic experience. She is most famous for her two television series, "Ilona's Palette" and "Painting with Ilona", both produced by the South Carolina Educational Television Network and distributed nationally.

Although "eighty-something" years of age, she possessed the power of a pint-sized dynamo and pulled everyone in her path along with her flow of energy. The 4'9" pixie was a compressed version of Lucille Ball complete with bright red hair and flashing jewelry. What she lacked in physical stature, she more than made up for in personality and enthusiasm.

As Ilona directed traffic and readied the classroom for two weeks of classes, everyone was swept into a hyper-speed of activity which lasted until the last day of instruction.

Each morning the atmosphere before class changed from a quiet autumn morning to a busy hum of creative energy. The classroom was charged, as if there was an undercurrent of static electricity keeping everyone alert and ready to watch the sparks fly, which they often did.

Whenever Ilona spoke, her extravagantly enhanced long, flaming-red eyelashes punctuated animated tales of her life and her theories of art and art instruction. She taught her classes and held court during coffee breaks with a hypnotizing East European accent which drew you into her own exotic world of drawing and oil painting. Speaking with the musical wit of an entertainer priming the audience before the next show, she spoke of her diverse experiences. Once she had even performed an autobiographical musical stage show, "Eyelash Cabaret", in the style of Marlena Dietrich, for a real life audience as a fund raiser in her hometown of Provincetown, MA.

Ilona believes that anyone can be an artist if they want to learn. Her own harsh experiences with art instructors have driven her to an engaging, but very insightful instructional style. Her technique is based on a very deliberate and patient way of observing and then rendering. Working with simple settings and subjects, she offers students a new way to record what they see. Her very forgiving technique encourages students to build up layers and paint in a way so that they are not afraid to make marks or apply color to a blank canvas.

Her serious tutorial style is interspersed with amusing stories and impish jokes from her many years of instructional experiences. With her anecdotes and artistic one-liners she often turns the classroom into her own personal nightclub act where she's the Grand Mistress of Ceremonies.

As her next series of classes approaches, expect a buzz of activity around The Lumbyard Art Center in Old Town Bay St. Louis. Ilona R.S. is more than just a flamboyant and entertaining instructor, she's an inspiration. Her instructions for art provide useful technical information to artists, but her special formula for living is a valuable example to everyone who hopes to live a long, vividly productive life.

NORMA STIGLET

CORONER

Medical Examiner

Stiglet is the wife of the late Harold J. Stiglet who served as coroner for six and a half years. She has more than 19 years experience in the office; six as an assistant to her late husband and 13 years as (coroner) medical examiner/investigator.

In addition to being a certified coroner/county medical examiner by Mississippi, she has completed courses covering crime scene investigation, AIDS, firearms evidence, forensic anthropology, serology, toxicology and odontology, drug awareness program, documentation course, and occupational exposure to bloodborne pathogens.

Stiglet's on-the-job experience includes more than 2,700 death investigations involving fatalities, suicides, homicides, drownings, fire and natural causes as well as over 400 cases under her husband.

Stiglet is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy, Bay St. Louis and was a longtime branch manager for Peoples Federal Savings and Loan. She has more than 27 years of part-time and full-time experience in the funeral business.

Stiglet has six children, Charlotte Chapman, Charlene Black, Cindy Carver, Connie Hair, Harold Stiglet Jr. and John Stiglet and six grandchildren.

In seeking re-election, Stiglet said, "I will continue to serve the people as I have in the past, with compassion, dignity, experience and knowledge."

Fundraising effort nets $2,500

Money to benefit Save Our Children, Animal Shelter, W.P.D.

Megan Thomas, a 2 year Wal Mart associate, and Tina Bleacher, a 12 year associate, planned and executed a five week fund raising campaign. Over 150 Wal Mart associates and managers participated in the activities netting a total of $2500. $1000 was given to the Save our Children program, $1000 to the Waveland Animal Shelter, and $500 to the Waveland Police Department. Some of their fund raising activities included a Cake Auction, a 50/50 drawing and raffles. The managers participated by singing Karaoke, dressing like the Village People and other stunts.

RE-ELECT JUDGE RICKY ADAM

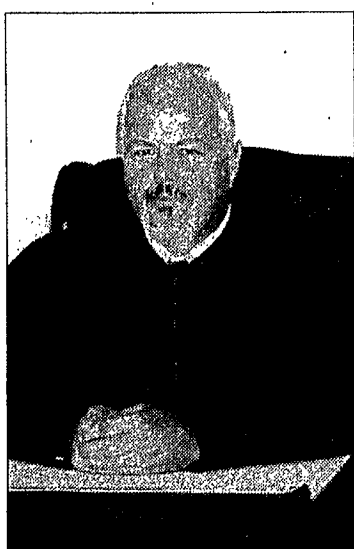

JUSTICE COURT- PLACE ONE

It has been my pleasure to serve you, the citizens of Hancock County, as your Justice Court Judge for the past two years.

Having served since December 2001, I have presided over approximately 4600 criminal cases and an additional 2500 civil cases. I have attended numerous classes and seminars at the Mississippi Judicial College.

Justice Court allows a person to be judged by one of their peers and everyone has the right to have their say in court, then base on my decision fairly on the evidence heard.

Please Excercise Your Right To Vote November 4, 2003

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Cats will be the theme for the preschool story hour at the Waveland Public Library on Tuesday, November 4, at 10:30 a.m. Rita Brady, Waveland customer service assistant, will read Felix on the Move, Cats! and Cats the Sound of Short A. Children will receive a color sheet.

The Mightiest will be the theme for the preschool children's story hour at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on Wednesday, November 5 at 10:30 a.m. Susan Daigre, program coordinator, will read The Mightiest, All the Letters, When the Walrus Comes and Rabbit's Pajama Party. Children will receive color sheet.

ABC's will be highlighted at the preschool story hour at the Kiln Public Library on Thursday, November 6, at 10:30 a.m. The Jazzy Alphabet, Chicka Chicka Boom Boom, K is for Kitten and ABC I Like Me are the books to be read during the program. Children will make an ABC color book and sing an ABC song.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one half hour, depending upon subject matter and planned activity.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group. For individual branch story hour information, contact Jamie Elston, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 487-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; or Karen Cotton, Waveland Public Library, 467-9240.

BSLFD Doll & Toy Fund

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Today you may be blessed with all that you need, but not everyone in Hancock County is that fortunate. If you are looking for a way to say thank you for the blessings that have been bestowed upon you, this is the perfect time of year to consider donating to the Bay St. Louis Fire Department's Doll and Toy Fund.

The department has helped to make Christmas a little bit better for local children and seniors for the past 25 years. Firemen plan to distribute more than 1500 gifts from their Santa's Hancock County Toy Shop.

If you want to participate as a recipient, registration will begin on November 3 and continue through November 26, the day before Thanksgiving.

Registration is easy. Recipients will need to bring proof of Hancock County residency in the form of a utility bill, local tax receipt, or other document, and proof of legal guardianship of the child or children to receive gifts. Requests for children from newborn to age 12 are accepted with their social security card or birth certificate.

For registration information call Tammy Garber at 228-467-4736 or come by the Bay St. Louis Fire Station from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. to register.

If you are interested in donating to the Doll and Toy Fund contact Deputy Fire Chief Gary Maurice at 228-467-4736. Civic organizations and businesses are encouraged to participate and assist in organizing the event. Donations of toys should be new and left unwrapped.

appointment of a county superintendent.

The statute, which is already in place, must be ruled on by the federal department of justice before the Hancock School Board may appoint a superintendent.

"There are 13,728 superintendents in the nation," Peggy Ladner said. "Only 1 percent of those are elected, with the majority of those being in Mississippi. Of the 152 districts in the state, 65 still elect their superintendents."

Alabama and Florida, she said, are the only other two states that still elect some of its superintendents, and every other state in the nation appoints all of its superintendents.

"Although there are some good elected superintendents, as a rule, your dynamic, proven superintendents are not going to get involved in politics and will not run for public office," she said. "They can go anywhere and be hired by school districts who appoint their superintendents. They went to college to become educators, not politicians."

There are superintendents, Ladner said, that have gone into districts and "made them some of the best districts in the state."

"This is what I would like to see for our district," she said. "If a superintendent is performing his or her job poorly, we are stuck with that superintendent for four years if elected. When appointed, that can be remedied."

If the statute is ruled upon, and the board decides to appoint superintendents, it will have no effect on the superintendent elected on Nov. 4, Ladner said.

Dr. Kim Stasny, Bay-Waveland School District's Superintendent of Education, said she favors the appointment of a superintendent rather than the election of one.

"I believe appointing a superintendent would eliminate some of the political issues an elected superintendent faces," she said. "I've talked to superintendents who have run for office, and it cost them between $10,000 and $15,000 to campaign."

With an elected official, Stasny said there would likely be a disruption in the progression towards the district and the superintendent's goals.

If a new superintendent was elected in four years, all the goals the previous official was working toward may be lost.

Stasny said it takes about three to six years for a superintendent to make an impact on a district.

A downside to being appointed, however, may be dispelling the perception that the superintendent is not accessible to the public, Stasny said. Appointed superintendents, she said, may have to work harder to disprove this.

Richard Flowers, president of the Bay-Waveland School Board, also favors appointment over election.

"It is better to have school board members elected and the superintendent appointed because the superintendent should be answerable to a board," he said. "You need a checks and balances system. Everyone should be answerable to someone."

Preserve on Thursday.

The 160 acre Mississippi Heritage Site off Lower Bay Rd. is home to one of the few remaining examples of an undisturbed Gulf Coast wet pine savanna swamp strand system. The land also contains four species of rare wild flowers.

The area will be managed with prescribed burns, which will help to eliminate aggressive species which would otherwise threaten to take over the ecology of the area. Prescribed burns also eliminate fuel which could cause wild fires in the area.

Only about three percent of the original pine savannas still exist in a system that once stretched from Texas to North Carolina. About 50 people gathered at the site early Thursday morning to enjoy bird watching, breakfast and a wildflower nature walk.

flicting stories.

"Following the traffic stop, officers were given consent to search the vehicle and Esposito found 100 pounds of marijuana located in the rear cargo area of the van wrapped in cellophane, then place in garbage bags," Garber said.

Garber added, "A foot pursuit ensued and Alvares was apprehended by K-9 Dax."

Bond was set at $200,000 on Alvares and $100,000 each on Haiheva and Guzman, according to jail records.

The narcotics case was turned over to Agent Able Long a member of CNET (Coastal Narcotics Enforcement Team) and on loan from the Hancock County Narcotics Division.

Assisting officers were Deputy Wesley Lossett, Lt. Ron Borja, Deputy Chris Ory, and Bay St. Louis Officer Sgt. Paul Cox.

Little Miss Poppy accepts the city of Bay St. Louis' proclamation declaring November 8 as Poppy Day from Bobby Parker.

Nov. 8 proclaimed Poppy Day in honor of veterans

American Legion Auxiliary volunteers will distribute the familiar red, handcrafted poppies honoring America's war dead on Saturday November 8, 2003, designated as Poppy Day by Auxiliary Unit 139 in Bay St. Louis.

Planned to coincide with the Veteran's Day holiday, the annual event pays tribute to those who have died in the last 80 years. It also honors the millions of Americans who have willingly served their country in eight decades.

It serves and honors veterans with all proceeds from the distribution invested in local programs for the benefit of veterans and their families.

Each nine-piece poppy is made by veterans for veterans in Auxiliary sponsored Poppy Shops that supplement physical and psychological therapy needed by hospitalized and disabled veterans. The Auxiliary provides the materials and the volunteers. The veteran makes the poppy and is paid a small amount for each flower made. For some it is his or her only income.

No matter what the cost of maintaining and supplying the Poppy Shops, the memorial poppy is never sold, but given in exchange for contribution.

The Poppy program has been part of Auxiliary programming for more than 70 years. It has been estimated that approximately 25 million Americans wear the poppy to honor America's war dead and veterans, contributing over $2 million for rehabilitation and welfare programs.

The city of Bay St. Louis has proclaimed November as Poppy Month. Miss Poppy Savannah Ladner and Little Miss Poppy Megan Triplett accepted the Proclamation from the City on behalf of Unit 139.

Play a round of golf to help 'Shop with a Cop' program

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

It's not too late to register for the Golf Tournament fundraiser sponsored by the Waveland Police Department. Proceeds from the tournament will go to "The Shop With A Cop" fund. The Waveland Police Department is planning early this year for their yearly venture, which pairs area children with police officers for a shopping spree at the Waveland Kmart.

This will be the fourth year for the event, which started with about 10 children and grew to 30 last year. This year the department hopes to enable at least 40 children have a merrier Christmas, said organizer Sgt. Brent Anderson.

This year the department will be holding its "1st Annual Charity Golf Tournament" at The Oaks Golf Club at 2384 Club House Drive in Pass Christian to help raise funds for the kids. The tournament, a four person scramble, will be held on Thursday, Nov. 20. On the day of the event the driving range will open at 9 a.m., with the tournament beginning at 10 a.m. and an awards party and dinner immediately following the tournament.

Price for the event will be $250 per team and will include catering by BB's Bar-B-Q Shack, door prizes, Golf and Cart Fees, tournament awards and prizes, and all drinks. The tournament is limited to 30 teams. All profits will be donated to "Shop With A Cop" and the kids. Registration should be completed as soon as possible for the event. Registration forms for the event can be picked up at the Waveland Kmart or the Waveland Police Department on Hwy. 90 or by calling either Brent Anderson or Mike Prendergast at 467-3669.

Even if you don't play golf, you can sponsor either a hole for a $100 donation or a team and a hole for $350, Anderson said.

If you can't sponsor the tournament, donations of any amount will be appreciated and should be dropped off at the department with checks made payable to the Waveland Police Association.

Cash donations are also accepted. One hundred percent of all donations will benefit the "Shop With A Cop" program and local children.

Officers are also hoping businesses will donate door prizes for the tournament, Anderson said.

"As a prosecutor, I've put criminals behind bars, so that in our neighborhoods, Mississippi families are safer. As Attorney General, my top priority is to make every community safe to raise a family."

Jim Hood

Born and raised in Northern Mississippi, family and faith are important to Jim Hood and his wife Debbie, pictured here with their three children aged 7, 4 and four months.

Jim Hood will hit the ground running in the fight against crime.

A graduate of Ole Miss, for eight years Jim Hood has been a tough District Attorney in Mississippi and before that he was an assistant attorney general for five years. Jim Hood is endorsed by sheriffs and police throughout Mississippi. He's prosecuted over 100 jury trials. Obtained over 4400 convictions. And Jim Hood has been a leader fighting for victims of crime - in fact, he received Mississippi's Victims Advocate Award 2003

Dedicated to making every Mississippi community safer, Jim Hood's "Hit the Ground Running" plan to fight crime includes speeding up prosecutions, cracking down on drug kingpins, expanding safe school zones, increased prosecution of fraud against seniors, and greater support for programs to give kids an alternative to a life of crime.

I would like to first of all thank Shannon Jenkins, with The Sea Coast Echo, for the wonderful article he wrote concerning how Breast Cancer was affecting my family, and told my story, so that hopefully one more person can be helped or find some hope in this situation. I would also like to thank all of my friends and family, including my extended families at both the Diamondhead, and Bay St. Louis Fire Departments, for their understanding and care. This means a lot to someone who fears losing those same family and friends, because of a disease.

I would like to thank my Gynecologist, Dr. Keith Goodfellow for always being there for me, and visiting me each day in ICU. I would like to especially thank the two wonderful surgeons that performed my surgery, Dr. Brian Anthony, who has been with me for years, through all of the breast lumps (benign until now) and making me feel so comfortable with the decisions that I know he felt I needed to make, but put no pressure on me to make them. Dr. John Miller, my plastic surgeon, who did an outstanding job rebuilding my chest, and for also making me feel whole again, and like I would actually survive this horrific disease with only a few minor scars (physically and mentally). I couldn't have asked for any better Doctors. Both of these surgeons deserve more than just thanks for performing the 13 hours worth of surgery, and I want them to know that they will always be in my prayers. Also, the ICU nurses at Hancock Medical for their wonderful care, and the staffs of both of my Doctors' offices.

Last, but certainly not least, I would like to thank my family, who loves me, and gave so much moral support and prayer. My Husband's family here and away, who have made me feel not as just an in-law, but a part of their family with thoughts and prayers. My daughters, Dorian and Brandy Rivers, for always being there, and giving me the love that comes from being close together, and bonded. My Husband, Mark, who has unselfishly taken on quite a lot with "for better or worse," and made me know that no matter what has happened, he loves me unconditionally, like I love him, now more than ever.

My gratitude to all those involved with praying for my recovery.

Road closings for Stanislaus bonfire

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus
St. Stanislaus College, in celebration of its first hosting of a high school football playoff game, will sponsor Bonfire and Pep Rally Thursday evening on South Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

The bonfire will take place on the sand beach at the head of Bookter Street.

Special activities will take place beginning with a parade at 7 p.m. on Bookter Street, Gemelli said.

McNeil said South Beach Boulevard from Union Street to Sycamore Street will be closed from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., also the Beach section of Union, Bookter and Sycamore Streets.

"We are asking residents of the first block of Union, Bookter and Sycamore Streets to use Hancock Street as an entrance between the hours of 6 to 10 p.m. Thursday," McNeil added.

You have known me as your principal. Now, know me as your superintendent.

Lady Cats hope to make return trip to "Big Dance"

Head coach Ed Walley's third edition of Pearl River Community College women's basketball was the surprise of the MACJC last season when they upset No. 3-ranked and undefeated Copiah-Lincoln in the Region XXIII Tournament and went on to upend Southwest 75-66 for the regional title and earn a second-over NJCAA National Tournament berth for the Lady Wildcats.

Walley was about as surprised as everyone else, but noted the accomplishment was the achievement of a goal set at the outset of the 2002-2003 season.

"That was our goal from the very start...to win the regionals and get to the 'Big Dance,'" he said. "I couldn't have been happier for our kids. I worked them hard and fussed and fussed at them, but their hard-work ethic, teamwork, and determination paid great dividends."

"It was truly an honor for our team and our school. There's only 16 teams in the entire NJCAA that get a chance to go to the nationals."

The Lady Wildcats, behind the short-shooting likes of All-American guard Audosha Kelley, pounded defending regional champ Co-Lin 81-70 in the semifinals, snapping the powerful Lady Wolves' 28-game winning streak.

"After we got past Co-Lin, I felt confident that we could win the whole thing," said Walley.

Kelley, who copped All-MACJC, All-Region XXIII, and All-Region Tournament honors for two straight seasons, earned All-NJCAA Tournament honors in the nationals held in Salina, Kan.

The No. 12-seeded Lady Wildcats wrapped up its impressive season with a 71-53 consolation loss to Tyler Junior College (Tex.) in the national tourney to end the year at 24-9. PRCC was defeated by fifth-seeded Garden City (Kan.) 91-76 in opening-round action of the tournament, but bounced back with a 65-49 demolition of the North Dakota College of Science Lady Wildcats in the consolation quarter-finals.

"You hate to end such a like that, but somebody has got to lose," said Walley. "We can still look back on last year as one of extreme accomplishment and we're the first team that represented Region XXIII in the past three years that has gone to the nationals and even won a game."

The last two teams that came up here and wound up going two and out. "Walley refuses to make a prediction for this season, but noted "in my three years here, we've been pretty good, but if we're going to stay on the winning track of success, many of our first-year people have got to step up and contribute quickly."

Four sophomores return from last year's regional championship team, including post Kim Winfrey of Oak Grove, wings Kira Tillman of Poplarville High, Samantha Flenory of North Forrest, and Monique Dale of South Jones.

"We're going to be depending on all four of those girls...particularly in the leadership area," Walley said. "They were part of the team that has seemed to have set the standard around here and I feel like they're up to the task."

Walley cited freshmen wings Carmen Labat of Bay High and Yolanda Hartfield of Hattiesburg High, point Ashley Smith of Beaumont, Tex., and post Julia Jordan of Gautier as showing promise on the practice court.

"The junior college game is different than the high school game," Walley said. "The speed and pace of the game is a big step up from the preps. But our new people are working hard and getting acclimated to this level. If we can gel as a team, we can be pretty good." Will there be another Audosha Kelley ready to emerge from his flock of freshmen?

"There's not very many Audosha Kelleys around," he continued. "She was one of the best players in the nation...not just in our league. And her All-American credentials proved that. Audosha is one of the best women's basketball players to ever suit up in a Lady Wildcat uniform."

Kelley, who has redshirted at Middle Tennessee State, received a whopping 87 scholarship offers following the national tournament before she selected the renowned Lady Blue Raider program in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Walley will be assisted by newcomer Brandi Gentry, a former East Mississippi CC and Belhaven standout from Louisville.

"Brandi's going to be a big help," Walley said. "She's getting more and more accustomed to our league from a coaching standpoint and is going to prove to be a big asset."

The Lady Wildcats open their season Thursday, Nov. 6, against non-division rival Itawamba in Poplarville.

PLEASE ELECT RICK FAYARD for Hancock County Sheriff

Personal

Life long resident of Hancock Co. Married 19 years to the former Peggy Schwartz. Father of two children, Candace 16, and Gavin 10. Member of the Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Masonic Lodge 429, Bay St. Louis, MS. Graduated from Bay High, 1983.

Professional

Bay St. Louis Police Department, Night Shift Patrol Supervisor. 12 years Full time Law Enforcement Experience. Graduated the Mississippi State Law Enforcement Academy, USM, 1993. Awarded three departmental citations for Valor, Bravery, and Outstanding Law Enforcement Effort. R.C.T.A. Frontline Leadership Training. N.O.P.D. Swat Certified. Narcotics Interdiction and Identification Training.

To the citizens of Hancock County,

My name is Richard "Rick" Fayard. As a native of Hancock County I am asking you to please vote for me as your next Sheriff of Hancock County. Over twelve years ago I stood on the steps of old city hall in Bay St. Louis and was sworn into law enforcement. I raised my right hand and swore an oath before God to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, uphold and enforce the laws of the state of Mississippi and serve and protect the citizens.

Over that time I have performed those duties and served the citizens of Bay St. Louis with Honor and Professionalism. It is with this same work ethic that I now wish to serve to all the citizens of Hancock County as Sheriff.

"Progressive, Responsible Leadership for the future of Hancock County" is the slogan that I have chosen for my campaign. I say progressive for the fact that law enforcement is an ever-evolving entity and a department must stay current on the new laws and techniques of enforcement. Responsible Leadership is exactly what it implies. As Sheriff I will be responsible directly to the citizens for providing them with the best law enforcement department possible and responsible for providing the Deputies with the best training and equipment so that they can perform their duties effectively and efficiently.

A technique known as Pro-Active Law Enforcement will be used on patrol. This is different from the present way of having an officer just answering a call as it allows the deputy to actively seek to detect and deter criminal activity. Increased patrol presence in all areas of the county is one of the benefits of this type of law enforcement.

The Narcotics Division will also become more active and perform more in-depth investigations. Street level round-ups make for flashy newspaper headlines and are good for public morale but have only a short-term effect and do nothing to stem the tide of illegal narcotic activity. This amounts to putting a band-aid on a gunshot wound. Following the narcotics and money back to its source and arresting all parties involved is the only way to win this battle.

Hancock County has a colorful past, once being described as the Moonshine capital of Mississippi. It seems as if Methamphetamine will become this generations Moonshine. The search for clandestine Meth labs will be of paramount importance. I will not allow Hancock County to be known as the Meth capital. This is a very dangerous chemical drug. The poisons used to produce it are dumped in our lands, bayous and streams. The same lands, bayous and streams we hunt and fish in and in which our children play and swim.

All citizens should expect ease of access to their full time Sheriff. All citizens should be treated with respect. Quality professional service should be given at all times from your Deputies. These are just a few of the goals I have set for myself and the department as your Sheriff.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is the largest law enforcement agency in Hancock County and it is my goal to make it the premier agency. This will be done by making an investment into the officers through continued inservice training, teamwork and state-of-the-art equipment. We may not be able to compete with other larger agencies with salaries but we will stand out with our service to our citizens

Rocks dump Warriors 38-7, claim 1st home playoff spot

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

On a cool night at Warrior Stadium on Halloween there wasn't any tricking just treating for the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws, (5-5, 4-2), as they cruised to a 38-7 victory over the winless D'Iberville Warriors and earned their first-ever home playoff game. The Warriors are the defending Class 4A state champions.

The Rocks doused head coach Casey Wittmann with coolers full of ice water as time ticked away. Wittmann stated, "This was a big win for our program that we are trying to build. We started out slow and allowed them to hang around in the first half. But, in the second half our players were determined not to let that happen. This was a complete team effort on offense, defense and special teams. Next week we will have Quitman. We know they are a good football team and we are, as well. It should be a tremendous game."

It was a game the started slow for the Rocks but quickly picked up in the second half. Fine defensive play for the Rocks set the tone early and allowed the Rock offense to have a short field to work with.

The Rocks deferred to the second half after winning the toss. SSC forced the Warriors to punt after holding them to three plays. After two minimal gains by fullback Matt Hoda, the Rocks went to the air. Quarterback Tim Kulikowski connected with former offensive lineman Nick Weinmann for an 8-yard pickup and a first down.

After three minimal gains on the ground, senior placekicker Michael Kivlan booted a 42-yard field goal with 6:51 left in the opening quarter, giving the Rocks a 3-0 lead.

The Warriors returned the ball to their 26 yardline. Alternating the ball between a bevy of running backs, the Warriors gained a first down before going airborne on a double-pass. The 16-yard completion on the second half of the pass play put the ball just past midfield. However, that would be about as far as the Warriors would advance. The Rock defense stiffened behind the play of Weinmann, J C Brignone, Mike Deifik, Lee Klein, and Jordan Ellis. D'Iberville ended up turning the ball over on downs.

SSC mounted a nine-play scoring drive on their ensuing possession. Kulikowski connected with Michael Cure for eight yards and a first down before Matt Hoda punished Warrior defenders for an 11-yard gain and another Rock first down.

But, the Warriors were not going to give up that easy. The Warrior front four broke through to force a sack and an 8-yard loss for SSC. Faced with a fourth and long situation, the Rocks lined up for another field goal attempt from 21 yards out; however, a fake field goal was the call. Kulikowski fielded the snap and pitched to Cure running a reverse. Cure pulled up late and tossed a 14-yard scoring pass to Brennan Thomas with 10:27 left in the second quarter. Michael Kivlan nailed the PAT to make the score 10-0.

D'Iberville mounted a 13-play drive that ended at the 17 yardline of the Rocks. Some stellar defensive play by Klein, Cure, Ellis, Brignone, and Travis Morris forced D'Iberville to attempt a 26-yard field goal which missed wide right with 2:28 left in the half.

The two teams traded a possession each to run the half out with SSC leading 10-0.

The Rocks received the kickoff to open the second half of play. It took the Rocks only six plays to get things going for the rout in the second half.

Hoda carried for 5 and 9 yards and gained a first down. On the next play, Klein broke free for a 52-yard run down the Warrior two yardline. En route to his longest run from scrimmage in his career, Klein left some Warrior defenders wondering where he was, not with blazing speed but simply by running over them. Two plays later, Klein carried the mail in from two yards out for the score. Kivlan connected on the PAT to make the score 17-0 with 9:20 left in the third quarter.

Klein, Cure and Deifik steppe dup to stop the Warriors advance on the ensuing possession and force a punt.

The Rocks started from the Warrior 34 yardline. Klein took the first handoff and rushed for 13 yards and a first down. He broke free around the Warrior end thanks to a punishing block by Cure in the open field. Kulikowski found Weinmann across the middle for an 18-yard pickup to the Warrior two yardline.

Two plays later Hoda pounded the ball in for the score from one yard out with 4:55 left to play in the third quarter. Kivlan connected on the PAT to make the score 24-0.

Once again the Rock defense stiffened to force the Warriors to punt after just three plays. The Rocks took over at the Warrior 29 yardline. Cure took a Kulikowski pass down to the Warrior 8 yardline. Backup fullback Travis Morris scored on the next play. Kivlan remained perfect on the night from PAT range to make the score 31-0 with 1:51 left in the third quarter.

The Warriors started to get some offensive consistency on their ensuing drive. However, the Rocks bowed up and Deifik intercepted a Olier pass at the Warrior 35 yardline.

An encroachment penalty on the Warriors got the Rocks five yards closer to payday. Morris ripped off a 26-yard run followed by a 4-yard touchdown run with 10:47 left in the game. Bryce Morreale connected on the PAT to make the score 38-0.

The two teams traded the next two possessions before the Warriors were able to get on the board against the Rocks junior varsity defense. The Warriors' only scoring drive started at the Rock 45 yardline. Jake Olier rushed for 22 yards on a quarterback keeper. Two plays later, he found Chris Odom in the endzone from 24 yards out. Jeff Kovacevich connected on the PAT to make the score 38-7 with 2:56 left in the game.

The Rocks ran the clock out on their final possession of the game to seal the win and a second consecutive trip to the state playoffs.

The Rocks were led on the ground by Lee Klein with 71 yards on 9 carries and a touchdown. Michael Cure had 2 catches for 28 yards while Nick Weinmann had two receptions for 26 yards. Defensively, the Rocks were led by Lee Klein's 13 tackles. Jordan Ellis and Mike Deifik with 7 and 6 tackles, respectively.

The Rocks end the season with a second place finish in Division 8 Class 4A. They will host a first-round home playoff game for the first time in their history on Friday, November 7, at Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex.

SSC will host Quitman in the first round game with kickoff set for 7:30pm. The Rocks are planning a pep rally on their front lawn/beach on Thursday, November 6, at 7pm. The Rock-a-chaw Regiment will perform and the school will also pay tribute to the OLA Crescent volleyball team who won the Class I state title earlier in the month. A DJ will be on hand to entertain the student body following speeches from invited guests.

A Surprising Admission from Rico Lee, Candidate for Representative, District #93

You might be surprised to hear this from me, but I actually voted for my opponent four years ago. Most of the people helping with my campaign told me I shouldn't tell you that. But I'm not the kind of person who is comfortable only telling half the story. I pride myself on being upfront with people.

I voted for my opponent because he claimed to share my conservative values and said he would fight for them in Jackson. That was before he got elected.

As soon as he got elected and went up to Jackson everything changed.

One of the very first votes he cast was to elect Ronnie Musgrove governor - even though more than 55% of his district voted for Mike Parker. But that wasn't all.

He also voted to double the amount of money he would receive from his state retirement benefit. He voted to let some felons out of jail early. He voted to allow adults to remove some criminal convictions from their records. He even voted to raise the fees on residential child care centers.

I could go on and on, but I won't. The point is simple, I'm running because my opponent claimed to be a conservative when he was running for election four years ago. Then he turned his back on those values.

A Surprising Pledge from Rico Lee

You might find it strange that I haven't mentioned my opponent's name. I'm not going to either. The purpose of this ad isn't to attack him. I simply wanted to provide some background as to why I'm making this surprising pledge to you today.

If you elect me as your representative, I pledge to remain true to my conservative principles and to:

- vote against all tax increases
- vote to fully fund education before anything else

• vote to keep felons behind bars for the entire sentence imposed by the court

• vote to eliminate wasteful "special interest" spending

Here's the most important part. I'm making this pledge because I want to assure you I'm not promising this stuff just to get your vote. If I break any of the pledges I've made here, I won't run again in four years.

I didn't get a pledge like this four years ago from my opponent, and I got burned. I won't do that to you.

You have my word.

River swamps Wolves 52-13

WESSON-Playoff-bound Pearl River Community College wrapped up its 2003 regular season with a 52-13 blowout over Copiah-Lincoln in MACJC South Division football action here Thursday in H.L. Stone Stadium.

The Wildcats, the defending division champs, finished the regular season at 8-1 overall and 5-1 in division play, while the Wolves dropped to 2-7 and 1-5. PRCC now heads into the state championship playoffs against North champ

Northwest in Senatobia Nov. 8.

"We accomplished what we set out to do and came out of here with a win," said PRCC head coach Tim Hatten. "We didn't play as consistently as I would've like offensively, but a win is a win and now it's on to the post-season."

Defensively, the Wildcats shined, limiting the Wolves to a 120 yards of total offense, including only a mere 46 via the rush and 74 through the air. PRCC finished the game with 404 yards of total offense (180 rush, 224 pass).

Quarterback Anthony Johnson's nine-of-19, 129-yard passing performance saw the sophomore from Duncan, S.C., finish the regular season with 2,040 yards; while freshman running back Bernard Smith of Lake Wales, Fla., ran for a career-high 126 yards on 13 carries after starting sophomore Curtis Hayes of Hattiesburg High left the game in the first quarter with a bruised shoulder.

Hawks grounded 24-0

BY DWAYNE BREMER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Hancock Hawks dropped Friday night's game to the Meridian Wildcats 24-0, but the score was no indication of how the game was played.

The Hawks led in every offensive category after the game, but three turnovers, and one big run was enough to doom the Hawks.

"I've never seen a game that I felt we dominated as physically, and lost by such a wide margin. Their defense made the big plays when they had too," said Hawks head Coach Rocky Gaudin.

"Maybe were just a little bit snakebitten this year," was a quote of a Hawks assistant coach after the game.

The Hawks bad fortune began early, when the Hawks botched the snap on a punt, and the ball was recovered by the Wildcats at the Hawks 19.

The Wildcats did not pick up any yards, but Andrew Kembrill came on and booted a 37-yard field goal, to give the Wildcats a 3-0 lead with 6:24 to play in the first quarter.

On the next possession the Hawks picked up two first downs. Adonis Washington had runs of seven and five yards, and Braxton Necaie completed a nine yard pass to Darren Kilpatrick. The Wildcats then made a huge defensive play, as E.J. Hampton picked off a pass by Necaie and returned the ball 50 yards for a touchdown. The extra point made the score 10-0 with 1:02 to play in the first.

The Hawks took over at the 20 after the kickoff and moved the ball nicely, as Necaie scrambled for 16-yards, and Washington picked up 12 more. Necaie the connected with Paul Verdin for 16 yard, and a first down to the Wildcats 42. Necaie then went deep, and found Steven Dauenhauer for a 36-yard completion to the Wildcats six. The Hawks then went backwards as Necaie was sacked twice, and then intercepted by Jonathan Byrd at the 14.

The Hawks defense forced a punt, and the Hawks took over at the 40.

The Hawks picked up a first down when Necaie hit Verdin for an eight yard catch, but on the next play, disaster struck as Washington fumbled, and Thomas Smith recovered the ball for the Wildcats, and ran 57 yard for a touchdown. The extra point by Kembrill made the score 17-0 with 5:28 to play in the second quarter.

The Hawks took the kickoff, and took over at the 20. Once again moved the ball as Necaie scrambled for 15 yards, and Eddie Bledsoe had runs of eight and five yards. Necaie then found Bledsoe on a screen pass for 20 yards, and the Hawks were once again in the red zone. The Hawks faced with a fourth and goal at the ten, but an incomplete pass killed the drive.

With just over 1:00 to play in the half, the Wildcats looked to run out the clock, but Cordee Campbell had other ideas, as he took a handoff, and broke free scooting 85-yards for a touchdown. The extra point was good, and the Wildcats would take a 24-0 lead into the half.

The second half started out with the Wildcats taking over at the 25. The Hawks caught an early break, as Campbell fumbled and Bledsoe recovered at the 36 for the Hawks.

The Hawks could not do anything with the gift, as two penalties pushed the Hawks back past midfield, and forced a punt.

The Wildcats took over at the ten, and began a drive that virtually iced the game. The Wildcats drove 16-plays, and took over eight minutes off the clock before the Hawks finally stopped them on downs at the 31.

The Hawks took over with 1:20 to play in the third, and began another good drive of their own. Necaie ran for nine yards, and then Necaie hit Dauenhauer for 17 yards.

Jarro Barrios ran for six yards, and Bledsoe picked up a first down with a five yard run. Four plays later the Hawks were faced with a fourth down at the 14. Necaie's pass was dropped by Dauenhauer, and the Wildcats took over at the 14.

The Hawks got one final chance to dent the scoreboard, but Necaie was intercepted by Mate Malone, and the Wildcats would run out the clock on the victory.

The Hawks dropped to 4-6 on the season, and were eliminated for a playoff birth with the loss.

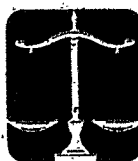

The Hawks may have found a quarterback, however, as Sophomore Braxton Necaie had a good game. Necaie threw for 144 yards, and ran for over 40 more.

"I think Braxton did a good job, I like the way he plays. He has a lot of toughness," Gaudin said.

The Hawks defense was solid despite the score. The Hawks only allowed 184 yard of offense, 85 of which came on one play. Senior Eddie Bledsoe was all over the field, as he tallied eight tackles, a fumble recovery and two pass defenses. Charles Bolden had seven tackles and a sack, and Jarro Barrios had seven tackles.

The Hawks will finish their season next week with a trip to Hattiesburg.

Tiger's season ends in Vancleave

BY MAURICE SINGLETON
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Bay High's defense did its job on consecutive third quarter drives, but fumbles on the ensuing possessions zapped the Tigers' momentum as their season ended in a 19-3 loss at Vancleave on Friday night.

Down 6-3 at halftime, with a playoff spot on the line, the Tigers appeared poised in the third quarter with consecutive defensive stances, allowing the Bulldogs a single first down on their first two second half possessions. The Tigers' offense effectively moved the ball on the ensuing possessions, but the drives ended in fumbles, deep in Vancleave territory, at the visitors' 21 and 24 yard lines, respectively.

The Bulldogs picked up a first down on a 14-yard Matt Sloan run on their first play from scrimmage in the second half. From their the Tigers went to work with tenacious defense from Michael Gros, Jovon Williams, Brad Ladner, Jimmy Blount, Trevor Adam and Kyle Moran, allowing the home team a total net yardage of zero on this and the subsequent possession.

Starting at his own 23 yard line, Zack Ferry moved the Tigers down field with crisp passes, picking up first downs three of the first six snaps of the second half. A 12-yard play to Williams, consecutive completions to Ladner of 14 and 10 yards and the Tigers were at the Vancleave 38 yard line.

Facing a third down with 13 yards needed for a first down, Ferry completed another 10-yarder to Williams. On fourth down Ferry found his favorite tailback across the middle, but Moran lost control of the ball as he was tackled and the Bulldogs recovered at their own 21 yard line.

A personal foul called against the Tigers advanced the ball to the Vancleave 36 yard line. Sloan banged his way for gains of 4 yards and two yards on Vancleave's first snaps, but on third down, Ladner made his biggest defensive play of the game, breaking through the Bulldogs protection to sack Brad Madden for a 13-yard loss.

The ensuing Bulldogs' deflected punt was downed at midfield. A personal foul call against Vancleave gave the Tigers excellent field position at the Bulldogs' 35 yard line. On first down, Moran redeemed himself with a low-leaning to the ground 11-yard run to the visitors' 24 yard line. That was followed by a 12-yard pass play from Ferry to Hawkins that was called back due to a Tigers' holding penalty.

The Tigers were backed up again on a holding call that nullified a 12-yard Ferry to Hawkins pass play. Facing a first-down-and-20, Ferry picked up 8 yards on a quarterback option keeper. Then the slopes of Tigers' uphill climb became just a little bit steeper as Vancleave recovered a Hawkins' fumble with about two minutes to go in the third quarter.

Hope begins to fade
The Tigers' defense held the Bulldogs to a third consecutive punt in as many second half possessions, but the Tigers' offense gave up its third turnover in as many possessions as Ferry was intercepted at the Tigers' 48 yard line. But this time the Bulldogs capitalized on the Tigers' mistake capping the possession with a 3-yard Sloan carry for a 13-3 lead with 6:37 remaining in the game.

Ferry sparks Tigers

With the possibility of the season ending in just over 6 minutes remaining in the game, Ferry, looking for an open receiver, found an opening past the line of scrimmage instead and outran Bulldog defenders for 38 yard run and great field position for the Tigers 35 yards from pay dirt. Ferry followed that with a 13-yard completion to Ladner. Two plays later he went to his favorite receiver Lorenzo Lewis near the end zone, but the ball was bobbled and fell into the hands of a Vancleave defender near the 5 yard line.

Reality sets in for the Tigers

The Bulldogs drove the field 93 yards following their second fourth quarter interception, aided by two frustration-forced, personal foul calls against the Tigers. Sloan capped the drive with a 2-yard carry for a 19-3 lead with 1:41 remaining in the game.

The Tigers put up the first points of the night on a 24-yard Kyle Moran field goal to cap the Tigers' opening possession and a 73-yard drive.

On the night Ferry completed 22 of 35 passes for 257 yards with two interceptions. Ladner led the Tigers with 80 yards on six receptions; Hawkins totaled 71 yards on 4 receptions; Lewis had 5 receptions for 32 yards; Moran had three receptions for 24 yards; Williams totaled 23 on three receptions; Micah Rogers added 10 yards on one reception.

The Tigers finished the season with a 2-4, district record (5-5 overall).

Pirates sunk by Blue Devils 38-26, still make playoffs

BY STEVE SMITH
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Pass Christian Pirates secured a playoff berth in District 8-4A Friday night as a result of Bay High's loss to Vancleave. They will face West Jones in Laurel next Friday.

The Pirates faced a tough Pearl River Central team Friday night at MacDonald Field in a non-district contest, scoring 26 points and rushing for 213 yards but were outscored by the Blue Devils, 38-26. Seth Guidroz had 178 yards and four touchdowns for Pearl River Central.

The Pirates started well with a fumble recovery on the opening kickoff to the Blue Devils and quickly converted the turnover into six points. Anthony Henderson scored on a four yard run with 11:00 minutes left to play in the first quarter. Jonathan Willis kicked the PAT and the Pirates had an early lead at 7-0.

The Blue Devils answered with a sustained drive that ended with Kenny Robinson scoring from the four yard-line with 6:23 left in the first quarter. Jonathan Truhan kicked the PAT and tied the score at 7-7.

The Pirates lost a fumble two plays into their next possession and gave the Blue Devils good field position at the 31 yard-line. Seth Guidroz scored on an 11 yard run and Truhan added the PAT, making the score 7-14, Pearl River.

The Pirates returned fire with a drive punctuated with big plays by Chad Musgrove and Jerod Bowser and ended with a Justin Furby fumble recovery in the end-zone for a touchdown. With a first down at the Blue Devil 15 yard-line, Jeffery Hillard handed off to Bowser who plowed through the Blue Devil line breaking tackles and reached the one yard-line before losing the football, which rolled into the endzone. Furby seized the loose pigskin and six points for the home team. The PAT failed and the Blue Devil lead was cut to one at 14-13.

Seth Guidroz dominated the second quarter, scoring on runs of two and four yards and Jonathan Truhan added a field goal and two PAT's as the Blue Devils took a 31-13 lead into halftime.

The Pirates rallied in the second half with a 72 yard, 13 play drive sparked by a 25 yard Jeffrey Hillard run on third-and-inches at the Pearl River 33 yard-line. Charles Woods scored from the 5 yard-line and a two point conversion failed, making the score 31-19, Pearl River.

The Pirate defense stopped the Blue Devils on their next possession and another Pirate drive and an Anthony Henderson touchdown closed the gap. Jonathan Willis' PAT brought the score to 26-31.

Seth Guidroz would not be contained, however and the Blue Devils marched 71 yards and scored with 2:05 remaining to play to win at 38-26.

Charles Woods had 53 yards rushing and a touchdown and Anthony Henderson, who had 49 yards and two touchdowns, was outstanding on special teams. Jerod Bowser and Jeffery Hillard each had 37 yards rushing as the Pirates amassed 226 yards total offense and 13 first downs with only three penalties for 15 yards.

Sprinkle, sprinkle, little rain

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
La Violette

laviolet@mail.datasync.com

I heard the sliding glass door near me open and then close. Stella had come out on the porch. She looked out at the lawn and then came and sat down beside Jennie, Holly and me, joining us in our morning "struggle" to start the day.

"Why are you running the sprinkler?"

I looked out to where the array of five sprinkler jets moved in separate independent dances, spewing broad graceful sweeps of water across the front lawn and garden. The early morning light caught the droplets flung out in the moving sweeps and the effect was as if we had a broad series of diamond spewing fountains stretched across our front lawn.

"It's been a little dry."

"Oh."

It was a weak sort of I see. "Oh." Meaning she didn't really see, but she didn't say anything more and we sat quietly, watching the dance of the bright plumes of water in the morning light.

There was a good reason, I suppose, for her question. Although we had not had any rain to speak of the last two days, when it had rained, it had been an inch and a half and the day before it two inches. Adding to that was the fact that we were having one of the rainiest springs and summers that we could remember.

Our grass was a rich, lush green and had to be mowed each week without fail. In fact, its growth rate was such that it really should be mowed every five rather than seven days. The flowers we had in the garden and in pots were blooming better than in any previous years. It was indeed a great year for gardens.

It hasn't been always so. We have had several years when it didn't rain very much and one or two in which it seem to stop raining completely after the first of August. We didn't have a sprinkler then and watering the lawn became Wheat and her mother before her were born and raised in at The Point, in Logtown, one of Hancock County's Lost Communities.

When Senator John C. Stennis secured a deal that would bring Stennis Space Center Federal City

She talked at a table set out under the carport of lifelong friend Lillie Sams, visiting with her friend and munching on orange cake.

"It took a long time to get used to the idea," said Wheat. "And a lot of people didn't... they died of heart attacks before they left from all the worry. Many more died right after they moved and I'll tell you, we lost a lot of people. They were dying all up and down the river."

"When they came, it must have been 1961... when they came and told my mama and them they

No doubt he felt that the Space Center would bring a jolt of life to the area and in many ways, it did just that.

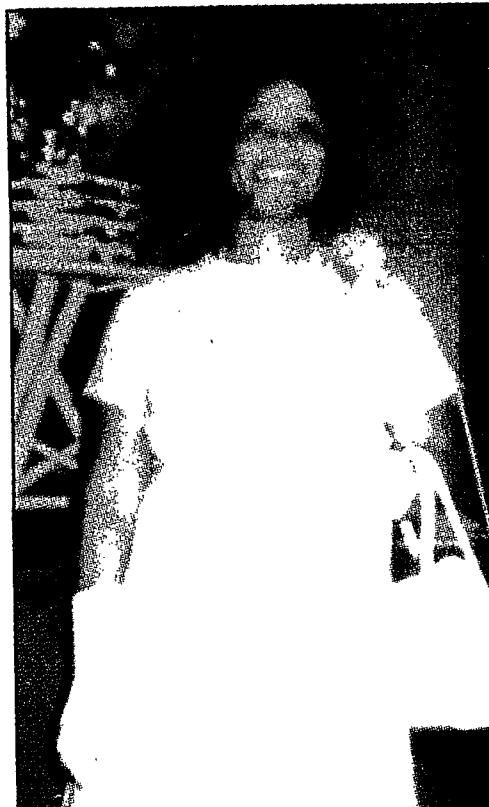

But no one ever bothered to ask the residents of the little towns dotting the area along the Pearl River in far West Hancock County how they felt about the changes to come.

The people living there, many for generations upon generations, never even knew what was coming, until it was announced on the

Snapdragons mesmerize as cool-season plantings

Orange bl-colored Montego snapdragons and yellow pansies (bottom) make for a striking cool-season planter. These red Montego (top) snapdragons demonstrate how showy single-colored plantings can be when combined with yellow pansies.

The first flower to capture my eye as a child was the snapdragon. I am sure it was the stunning, vibrant colors coupled with the wonderful fragrance.

I recently have seen two of the best selections of snapdragons ever, one in Ocean Springs and one in Jackson. The snapdragon is one of our best cool-season flowers, and now is the time to get them planted.

Native to Europe and the Mediterranean, the snapdragon is known botanically as Antirrhinum majus. New breeding has made the snapdragon surprisingly tough -- it can be planted in zone 7 southward, and it blooms through May and into June. Newer varieties also perform well.

If you plant now, the snapdragon will be in the ground eight or nine months, so bed preparation will pay off. Select a site in full sun for best bloom production. Incorporate 3 to 4 inches of organic matter along with 2 pounds of a slow-release 12-6-6 fertilizer per 100 square feet of planting area.

Set transplants in the garden at the recommended spacing for your variety. This may mean some selections, like Rockets, should go toward the back of the border, and others, like the Montegos, up front. Apply a good layer of mulch to keep soil temperatures moderate and give added winter protection.

Deadhead snapdragons for a tidy appearance and to keep flowers producing. If unusually cold weather is forecasted, completely cover them with pine straw until the temperatures have moderated.

Pay attention to moisture levels during the winter. While soggy feet can be lethal, many cold fronts in the South dry out beds to a severe level. As growth becomes more active in late winter or early spring, side dress with a light application of fertilizer.

Snapdragons are ideal companions for pansies, violas, flowering cabbage and kale, as well as bulbs

Bay High seniors teach Second Street fourth graders about the environment

BY MARTHA EUBANKS
On September 29, seniors from Ms. Lathrop's college environmental science class taught Mrs. Jenkins's fourth grade class a lesson on water. The lesson emphasized the importance of conserving water and keeping it fresh and clean. On October 1, the seniors took Mrs. Jenkins's class to the stream behind Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis. The seniors taught the following tests: dissolved oxygen, temperature, pH, chloride, alkalinity, and turbidity. Ms. Lathrop's class was able to do this thanks to a grant Bay High received from the Coastal Impact Assistance Program. The CIAP promotes students learning to be ecological stewards. The grant has given classroom learning a real life application, and has enhanced students' problem solving capabilities. The students have gained a broader understanding of the impact of their own activities on their environment and the value of threatened natural resources. Students in Ms. Lathrop's class include: Courtney Cann, Matt Carver, Amy Clark, Ryan Dedeaux, Brandi Fisher, Jessica Johnson, Paige Ladner, Kiet Le, Joanna Mannion, Robbie Pitre, Kayla Russo, and Christina Shiflett.

Scouting for food

The Scouts would like to ask your company if the scouts can do Scouting for Food again this year. We have been doing Scouting for food for the past 4 year and would like your company to help us out again.

The Scouts would stand outside your store and ask the people if they can help by placing a extra item for the need in Hancock County. This helps the scouts earn some community service time. If you have any questions, please call Billy Adams @ 467-4788 or cell number 216-8903.

Weddings and Engagements

Peterson, Dupuy Wed in August

Miss Jennifer Ashley Peterson became the bride of Mr. Greg Dupuy on August 9, 2003. The candle-light ceremony took place at seven o'clock in the evening at St. Clare's Catholic Church in Waveland. Father Joseph C. Mercier performed the double ring ceremony.

The Bride is the daughter of Madonna Peterson of Waveland. She is the Granddaughter of the late Edgar & Gracie Peterson.

The Groom is the son of Tina and Glenn Dupuy of Bay St. Louis. He is the Grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Stephan of Kiln and Mr. and Mrs. Mansel Dupuy of Lacombe, LA.

The bride wore a gown of white silk satin. Hand sewn baby-pearls, Beauvoir Pearls, Sworabski Crystals and French Lace adorn the bodice with a front Satin Bow. Falling from the empire waste, the tiered ball gown skirt and the tip of the Chapel train featured an intricate appliqué of imported French Lace and Australian Crystals. Her veil of soft white illusion flowed from a satin band of Sworabski Crystals, French Lace and Diamond stones.

The bride carried a nosegay of vindella white roses, accented with miniature Lily of the Valley, Tropicana Roses and white miniature Kalanchoe flowers in Baby's Breath reamed in miniature pearls and soft white tulle.

The bride wore her late Grandmother's engagement ring and also carried a linen handkerchief made by her Great-Great aunt given to her at birth.

Sandra Baughman attended the bride as Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Roxanne Fletcher, Janie Slaughter of Hattiesburg, Meagan O'Gwin of Bay St. Louis, classmates of the bride. Felicity Arcement of Kiln, Kayla Peterson, Amanda Morris of Waveland, Brynae Necaise of Kiln, cousins of the Bride, Rebecca Dupuy of Kiln, sister of Groom.

The bridesmaids wore a long A-line Coral Satin dress with a three tiered bow backless dress with matching satin gloves.

They each carried a promenade bouquet made of white Roses, peach Roses, peach miniature Kalanchoe flowers with flowing peach ribbon.

Brooke Stephan, cousin of the Groom served as flower girl. She wore an identical dress to the bridesmaids.

Avery Stephan, cousin of the Groom served as Junior Bride. She wore a dress identical to the Bride.

Charlie Buckley attended the Groom as Best Man. Groomsmen were Cameron Schwartz, of Bay St. Louis, classmates. Marc Dupuy of Waveland, Brandon Dupuy of Kiln, brothers of Groom. Dennis Bordelon of Bay St. Louis, cousin of Groom. Aaron Morris, Jonathan Stiglet of Waveland, Cody Swilley and Coletton Swilley of Kiln, Cousins of the Bride. The groomsmen were attired in black-vested formal tuxedos.

Reis Baughman, Godchild of Bride, and Hayden Dupuy, nephew of Groom served as Ring Bearers. They both wore tuxedos that matched the groomsmen.

Branum Stephan, cousin of the Groom, served as Junior Groom. He wore a tuxedo that matched the groomsmen.

Jennifer Dupuy of Waveland, sister-in-law of the Groom, and Mary Ellen Montgomery of Kiln, Great Aunt of the Bride, read the Liturgy of the Word.

Shawn Bilbo of Waveland, cousin of Bride, Bobby Lamb of Bay St. Louis, classmate of Groom and Greg Ellis of Bay St. Louis, friend of Groom served as the Ushers.

Jimmy Varnell was the Organist and Mary Chapman was the Vocalist. The wedding songs were Ava Maria, Wither thou Goest and The Our Father.

Felicia Ross of Kiln, cousin of the Bride, and Brittney Strong of Bay St. Louis, friend of Bride and Groom served as Program Attendants.

Jeanine Edwards of Bay St. Louis served as the Wedding Co-Coordinator.

The Bride and Bridesmaids had a day of pamper at the house of her Aunt, Tina Stiglet of Waveland. Black Stretch limousines escorted the bridal party to the church and then to the reception. The Reception was held at the Hancock County Civic Center in Bay St. Louis. Fantasy Productions, Lenny Ladner and Party Time Productions, Rod Morris provided the music.

Specialty Catering, Judy Fletcher and Lisa Hinsen served the food.

A five-tiered Wedding Cake accented with peach roses was made and by Jerry, Dawn and Julie Stolz, cousins of the Bride. Each layer was a different flavor, 2 layers of Italian Cream, Strawberry and Carrot Cake and the traditional white cake. The topping was porcelain New Reflections Bride & Groom.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at High Tide's in Picayune, Ms.

Showers for the bride and groom were given by several different loved ones.

In May, Lynn Necaise, Lisa Ross, and Laura Adam, cousin of the Bride and Mary Ellen Montgomery, Great Aunt of the Bride hosted a miscellaneous shower.

In June, the Brides Aunts and Uncles, John and Tina Stiglet, Rod and Kay Morris, Mark and Linne Swilley and Arlin and Michelle Hurt hosted a Hawaiian Couples shower at the Depot.

In July, the Bridesmaids hosted a shower at the Eastern Star Building in Bay St. Louis.

In August, the Groomsmen hosted a "Honey-Do Shower" at the home of Mr. Rod Morris of Waveland.

Mrs. Lynn Slaughter of Bay St., Louis, hosted a Bridesmaid Luncheon and a Bachelorette pre-party.

After honeymooning in New York City, New York the couple will reside in Picayune.

Although our orthopedic unit is new, the structure for our practice has been around for centuries.

Just as it takes a skeleton to support the human body, a healthcare system needs the right professionals to support the practice of a medical specialty. At Garden Park Medical Center, orthopedic patients receive all the support they need to return to an optimal level of functioning, thanks to our new orthopedic unit. Our multi-disciplinary approach, with 12 orthopedic surgeons on staff, specially trained nurses, technologists and physical therapists, and our full-service radiology and surgery departments, emphasizes the connection between healing and having all the right resources at hand.

We rely on a joint effort to heal.

Military Mention

Navy Seaman Apprentice Eric M. Anderson, son of Shirley M. White of Bay St. Louis, Miss. and Marcel E. Anderson of Waveland, Miss., recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Anderson completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations". This exercise gives recruits the key skills and confidence they need to graduate and take to the fleet.

"Battle Stations" has been designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. Its distinctly 'Navy' flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Kevin M. Hampton, son of Becky and Gary L. Hampton of Pass Christian, Miss., is currently serving in the southern Iraqi city of An Nasiriyah while assigned to Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 7, based in Gulfport, Miss.

Hampton's unit continues to assist with convoys, watch-standing, radio operations, administrative coordination and project operations in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Seabees from NMCB-7 repaired more than $85,000 worth of damage to the city's courthouse, providing residents with a key meeting place to set up a new city council which in turn has helped establish law and order in the city.

Hampton's unit provides military construction support to Navy, Marine Corps and other forces in military operations, construct base facilities and are armed to conduct defensive operations. Their motto "We build, We Fight" illustrates their ability to work and defend themselves at construction sites outside their base camp and convoy through unsecured areas.

Hampton is a 1998 graduate of Pass Christian High School of Pass Christian, Miss.

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Myriah S. Mears, whose husband, Willis, is the son of Debra Scrimshire of Pass Christian, Miss., is currently serving in the southern Iraqi city of An Nasiriyah while assigned to Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 7, based in Gulfport, Miss.

Mears' unit continues to assist with convoys, watch-standing, radio operations, administrative coordination and project operations in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

A1C Jason Ellis, of Tinker AFB, Oklahoma, attached to the 552nd Component Maintenance Squadron, was recently recognized by his Commander for designing the winning safety poster in his squadron. (FOD - Foreign Object Damage).

Jason was also recently recognized for designing a coin for his squadron. The coin is given to each member of the squadron, and then gets circulated around the world. So far, it has traveled to Kuwait and Iraq.

Jason is a 1999 Hancock High School graduate and entered the Air Force in May 2001. Along with this award, he also designed his company's tee shirt in Basic Training, and then graduated with honors, from his advanced training at Keesler AFB.

He is the son of John Ellis of Saucier and Kathy Hager of Pass Christian. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poillion of Pass Christian, and Mrs. Juliette Ellis of Long Beach, MS, and the late Cereme Ellis.

way it worked was the government bought your house and then gave it back and what could be moved, we moved," she said. "We had to pay to get it moved."

People also had to buy a new piece of property, somewhere to put the house they moved, or somewhere to build a new house if they couldn't move the old one. They also had to pay to dig new wells, drain the swampy areas that dotted the Pearlinton area and to clear the land there. And they had to pay current market prices even though their own land had been purchased for prices frozen in time when the government first decided to locate the Space Center in the area. For many, it meant a lifetime of debt where there had been none.

But the debt never came close to the heartache caused by the move.

"We left in 1964, late, after everybody else had moved," said Wheat. "There was just the Thomas' and the Abrams (left in the area). We had to sell and move but they didn't give us near enough for our property ... they didn't give us anything. We didn't want to move, no Lord we didn't want to move."

Mildred and James married in 1950 and bought their first home from Sams father-in-law, paying about $1,500 for the house, she said, but a lot of money in 1950. The couple scrimped and saved to pay for the home that housed not only Mildred and James, but their children, James' mother and Mildred's grandmother.

Mildred would wash out the children's only clothes each night, to save money on buying new ones so they could meet the note on the house. That didn't bother Mildred though. She was used to working hard and had been doing so since she was a young teenager to help the family.

"My daddy used to work on the river loading logs in my childhood days," she said. "I would walk the three miles from The Point to the post office in Logtown to work for Nettie Koch. She helped get me a bicycle. I scrubbed wood floors with lye and there were no gloves. My oldest brother worked shucking sugar cane."

There was always plenty of sugar cane and sweet potato syrup. With a meal of sweet potatoes, biscuits with syrup, and a piece of salt meat boy you had a meal, Wheat said. And there were always plenty of vegetables from the gardens, everyone had them, and we raised our own meat.

During the Depression many people worked for the WPA for sacks of food.

People were healthy and they were fit, she said. No one back then was overweight, she remembers. There was very little sickness like there is now, she said, and when there was, home remedies, not doctors solved the problem.

If someone got sick they would put them in a bath of boiled gypson weeds to reduce the fever, Wheat said, and you would be well. Red Oak worked for a sore throat. The old folks knew how to cure illness and we called on them, not doctors, she said.

Like everyone living

Mildred's mother, Sarah Vaughn Keys, before her death in 1979. Her father, Joe, died in 1936.

Mildred and James Wheat live in Pearlinton today. She was born at The Point in Logtown and he was born in Westonia. They raised seven children together.

under the moss covered oaks and giant pines in the area along the Pearl River, Wheat remembers the harmony in the community. A factor that no doubt contributed to the good health of the residents.

"Everybody was happy;

there were no real problems," she said. "Everybody helped one another, black or white, they were right there with you. Wherever we go, the people who stayed in Logtown are glad to see one another. We hug and we say, it was different there."

an all day affair, moving long coils of cumbersome hoses to new watering positions every hour, hour after hour, setting the kitchen timer and then when it went off going through the whole procedure again.

Stella started in on me to put in a sprinkler, but I became adamant in saying no. Then one day last year, as I was moving the hose for the fifth time that day, I realized that the only reason I was saying no was because Stella was saying yes. I dropped the hose and made the call.

The men came with white pipes and shovels and set to work. In three days, they had it all installed. They gave me a demonstration and after I approved the result, they set the timer to go off in three days.

"There's a rain gage on the timer to sense if it's been raining," one of the men explained. "If it has it'll hold off sprinkling for another three days."

Three days later, it started to rain. A good hard rain. The next two days, more rain. The next week, still more rain. It rained so much that summer that I never really had to use the sprinkler. Worse, during one rainstorm, lightning hit the house and the sprin-kler's small electronic rain gage on the eave of the roof disappeared in a spectacular show of pyrotechnics.

Now this year we are again having a record amount of rain and the sprinkler is lying quietly in the ground, sleeping more than sprinkling.

Yesterday, as I sat on the porch I looked over at Herb's house. He lives in a white brick house across the side street that separated us. It was raining on his side of the street but not on ours. Bemused, I walked to the east end of the porch and watched, expecting the rain to quickly move on or stop. It didn't. It stayed and rained for about three or four minutes; all the time on Herb's side of the street, not on mine.

What was extraordinarily nice was that the rain was just a mild summer shower. It was early in the day and the sun was at the perfect angle from the east, behind the rain. Shining as it did through the falling rain, the sun's rays illuminated the rain drops, turning them into millions of bright beads of light. It was a wondrous thing to see; all of these falling drops, because of the differing angles of each in relation to the sun and me, changing with varying scales of brightness and radiant color.

Then it was over and the rain moved on, leaving only the street steaming in the remaining dampness and in my minds eye, the crisp memory of what I had seen.

As I sat on the porch this morning, I thought about the previous day's shower and the way sun light had illuminated it. As I sat remembering, I saw that our lawn was being bathed in the rays of an early morning sun. I got up carefully, so as not to disturb Jennie or Holly, and opening the control box, switched the sprinkler to "ON."

Returning to my chair, I made myself comfortable and waited. The several sprinkler jets in the lawn, sputtered, spewed, then finally began jetting forth broad, moving arcs of water. As these arcs moved out in the morning air, they feathered and dropped as gentle showers of rain, thousands of droplets of water. These were flung across the lawn, each and all brightly reflecting the sun ...

... and my ... and, shortly after the sliding door opened and closed, Stella's pleased wonder.

The Sea Coast Echo

Hancock's Local Newspaper since 1892

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE NAME OF THE GAME WAS --HOSPITALITY!

IN THE ANCIENT BIBLE WORLD HOSPITALITY WAS REGARDED AS ONE OF MAN'S BEST VIRTUES. EVEN THEIR MANY LAWS REFLECT THIS CONCERN FOR THEIR FELLOW MAN. THE LAW RESPECTING THE STRANGERS IN THEIR MIDST (LEV. 19:33,34) MAKES THIS CLEAR, AND THE LAW CONCERNING THE POOR (LEV. 25:14) GIVES THE PATTERN OF CONDUCT THEY WERE TO FOLLOW. MANY PASSAGES FROM THE NEW TESTAMENT ARE IN LINE WITH THE TRADITION OF THE OLD TESTAMENT IN THAT WE ARE URGED TO FOLLOW AFTER HOSPITALITY (ROM. 12:13) AND TO ALWAYS REMEMBER ABRAHAM'S EXAMPLE (HEB. 13:2) AND USE HOSPITALITY ONE TO ANOTHER WITHOUT GRUDGING! (1 PETER 4:9). SOMETIMES THE DEGREE OF HOSPITALITY WAS OVERPOWERING AS IN THE CASE OF ELIEZER WHO WAS COMMISSIONED BY ABRAHAM TO FIND A BRIDE FOR HIS SON ISAAC. ELIEZER FOUND A BRIDE, REBEKAH, AND WAS ANXIOUS TO RETURN HOME--BUT NO WAY! THE EXTENT OF THE GENEROSITY OF REBEKAH'S FAMILY KEPT HIM VISITING WEEK AFTER WEEK UNTIL THE POOR FELLOW WORRIED THAT HE WOULD NEVER SEE ABRAHAM AGAIN.

Has Christianity been tried?

An age-old quip has it that many members of the Church are no more than three-time Christians: "When they are hatched, matched and dispatched."

Spoken formerly in jest about a large minority of Christians who pushed involvement with their families at the church ceremonies only of baptism, marriage and funeral rites, the old saying now includes a huge number of Christians in America and a whopping majority of those in Europe.

It is most distressing to read and hear about the virtual dismantling of the Church in Europe. Some of our Dutch Divine Word Missionary priests have been telling us for a couple of decades that vocations to the priesthood and religious life in Holland, as in all of Europe, are teetering barely above zero.

For many years, Spain and Ireland exported numerous priests and religious around the world, but now even they are smarting from a dearth of vocations.

Unfortunately, things are not much better here in the United States where several religious congregations of women are now extinct.

Further, a number of religious congregations of women, by their own admission, are presiding at their own wake, receiving few or no young women as postulants, while losing older nuns to retirement and death. It is just a matter of

Reflections on Life
by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

time until their communities will become defunct.

Though not quite that dire, the survival situation of priests in this country is critical, as we witness their number steadily decline because of few new vocations coupled with the retirement and death of older priests. Except in developing countries, we priests and religious are an endangered species.

There is a strong correlation between the free-fall of vocations and the fall from grace of church doctrine, traditions and practices. Europe has become the standard bearer with France as its point guard of the secularization of society. A faint one in 20 people attends Sunday service in France.

It is not at all accidental that the United States, where about one in three people attend Sunday service, is way out of step with France, most notably in politics. For all our national forswearing of mixing religion with politics, our American leaders base their world view and peace/war view on religion.

At the bottom of the Christian totem pole, France is symptomatic of what is going on throughout Europe with the exception of Poland which is still very conservative and a decided throwback to pre-Vatican II. It is not coincidental that there are still priestly and religious vocations in Poland.

What mix or combination of changes in our society's traditions, customs, culture, education, economics, entertainment, laws and politics has been mainly responsible for Europe's and America's tilt toward secularization?

Just recently, an Irish priest mused nostalgically about yesterday in Ireland when there was always a surfeit of priests and religious: "But all that is changed now because of consumerism. The children, the people simply have too many material things. They have become like Americans."

Is that also all of Europe's excuse? If anything, since most Americans still have the appearance of regular church attendance and involvement, many Europeans are even more materialistic, at least more secular in attitude, than Americans. In this, the Irish consumerism analogy is right on target.

Materialism and consumerism stick out like a swollen thumb in the area of vocations. The developing nations are situated economically where the United States was many decades ago. Coincidentally, the developing nations have the same abundant vocations which Americans had in those years past.

It remains to be seen how vocations will fare in those developing countries when they get beyond the point of qualifying as developing.

Perhaps they will hit the point where they will sound like Americans: "I want a profession where I can make money and have the things I want."

As a doctor, lawyer or business person, I can still do a lot of the charitable social work a priest or religious does."

The fact that a vocation to the priesthood or religious life has lost its glamour has a great deal to do with the Church's own rapid decline in esteem by the mainstream laity. The high social pedestal once reserved for priests and religious has been pulverized by ugly things such as pedophilia.

One-on-one, TV and assorted luxuries win hands down in a confrontation with the Church's perceived stodgy beliefs. There is simply no doubt when it comes to a popularity contest between the Church and modern freedoms, conveniences and luxuries which fly in the face of old creeds and practices.

With materialism and consumerism, of course, comes the full menu of luxury items, luxury electronic toys, virtually unlimited TV channel access, and a wholesale glut of everything imaginable to get the attention and money of the consumer, triggering a vicious cycle of supply and demand.

Television has perhaps the biggest hand of all in this vicious cycle by breeding, feeding and propagating both itself and its numerous commercials, entertainments and documentaries in a most pleasing and seductive manner.

Couch potatoes are the ultimate triumph of TV programming and marketing.

Seeing Europe's inglorious descent into secularism, one might be tempted to remark that Christianity has failed, at least in Europe. There is certainly a lot of ammunition for that argument. However, G.K.

Chesterton's response to a similar observation might be more apropos: "Christianity has not failed. It has not been tried."

The "Word" for the Week

Creation, marriage and God's image

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Have you ever seen family members at odds with one another? It can be heart wrenching.

The divorce rate these days is a sad testimony to the fact that many family members have been so much at odds with one another that they refuse to live together any longer.

We have come to call such situations incompatibility. One way the dictionary defines incompatibility is with the word irreconcilable. In other words, two people who are incompatible have differences and they refuse to be reconciled.

But how do such deep differences develop between people who have lived together for years? Such differences can develop when a husband and a wife have different aims, goals and desires.

For example, a husband and wife can begin going in different directions because of the demands of their work or their careers. God did not intend family members to be pulled in different directions.

In the beginning, God spoke to the first husband and wife "and God said to them, 'Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it; and rule over ... every living thing that moves on the earth...' (Genesis 1:28).

The critical words are, "And God said to them." You see, God did not send the first husband and wife off in two different directions to do two different jobs.

Quite to the contrary, God directed the first husband and wife to work together to accomplish the same task. In this way compatibility was fostered.

If incompatibility is a problem in your home, perhaps it is time for you to start listening to God's directions for living.

Allied Health instructors revise state curriculum

The secondary Allied Health program began in 1981 and has grown from three programs to more than 90 programs in high schools during this calendar year with an approximately enrollment of 2,400 students.

The Allied Health curriculum is revised every five years to ensure the program content is well-aligned with the demands of the workplace.

These nine instructors were able to network with industry and business partners seeking advice and information affecting healthcare in Mississippi as well as the nation.

Revision of the state curriculum also assists new teachers as they enter the classroom by providing suggested teaching and assessment strategies.

During the workshop, Allied Health instructors indicated that keeping with the demands of industry is imperative to properly prepare students for the real world.

Allied Health Team

Nine Allied Health instructors recently met for two days in Starkville to revise the state curriculum to reflect technological and legal aspects of the ever-changing field of medicine. Assignments were made several months prior to the workshop to prepare instructors for researching various aspects of the assigned teaching units. Instructors were assisted in this endeavor by Sandra Bates, Curriculum Advisor, and Dr. Stephanie King, Curriculum and Assessment Specialist.

Students get creative at Hancock High Vo-Tech

to help handicapped youngsters and adults. The pony will help riding instructors measure rider's thighs for stretch and help them fit the riders to the horses. Art students from Hancock High School later painted a head and tail designed and cut by Cranmer.

Seniors encouraged to vote

Bob Coniglione (standing) and Bruce Northridge (not pictured) both with the U.S. Navy at Stennis Space Center, recently visited with the Hancock High senior class to explain the importance of not only registering to vote but also actually voting during local and national elections. Students 18 years of age were given applications to complete for voter registration, and 17-year-old students were encouraged to complete an application to be held on file in the Circuit Clerk's office until the student turn voting age. Each year, Hancock High School Civics Teacher, Gary Ladner, arranges for students to learn through hands-on activities about the election process.

dress with a light application of fertilizer.

Snapdragons are ideal companions for pansies, violas, flowering cabbage and kale, as well as bulbs like daffodils. Don't forget to use in mixed containers. Your local garden center probably sells both mixes and flats of single colors.

Without a doubt, single-colored plantings will stop traffic. Try combining these with a pansy mix or with pansies that have blotches. Mixed snapdragon plantings are just as showy but are easier to combine with single-colored pansies without blotches.

You will probably be surprised by the variety of snapdragons available.

The new series that looks the most outstanding is the Montego, which grows 8 to 12 inches tall. Other dwarf or miniature varieties of the same height are Floral Showers, Tahiti and Bells.

For intermediate selections, look for Crown (12 to 18 inches), Liberty Classic and Sonnet (both 24 to 30 inches). The old-fashioned, 3- to 4-foot Rocket is still one of the most prized in the landscape.

New trailing series Lampion, Chandelier and Luminaire offer additional heat tolerance by virtue of hybridization with A. hispanicum and A. molle from Spain.

until 2:00 p.m., November 12, 2003 to Replace the Entertainment Lighting and Sound Systems at Bay High School Auditorium, 750 Blue Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis, MS. Any bids received after the time and date specified will not be considered and will be returned unopened.

Please specify on the outside of your envelope
"SEALED BID FOR AUDITORIUM UPGRADE".
Bids being submitted by mail should be addressed to the Bay Saint Louis/Waveland School District, 201 Carroll Avenue, Bay Saint Louis, MS 39520.

The specifications for the project are entitled
"Replace Entertainment Lighting and Sound
Systems at Bay High School Auditorium, Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi," and consist of 53 pages dated October 15, 2003.

Pre-bid site tour is scheduled for 9:00 a.m.
November 11, 2003.

The project is to provide labor and materials to replace entertainment lighting and sound systems, including, but not limited to replacing theatrical lighting control system, replacing theatrical lighting fixtures, replacing work lighting, and replacing the sound system.

Contract Documents may be examined at the Bay Saint Louis/Waveland School District, 201 Carroll Avenue, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. An electronic copy of the documents may be obtained at the Bay Saint Louis/Waveland School District or the office of Engineer Lighting &
Sound, Post Office Box 6313, Diamondhead, MS 39525, upon payment of $25.00, which includes shipping and handling for each CD ROM. Return of the CD ROM is not required, and the amount paid for the CD ROM is not refundable. For information regarding this project, contact Engineer Lighting & Sound's office at 228-255-0098, in Diamondhead, Mississippi.

Each bid must be submitted on the prescribed bid form and accompanied by a certified check or bid bond executed on the prescribed form payable to Bay Saint Louis/Waveland School District in an amount not less than 5% of the total amount bid, including the base bid and all discrete alternatives.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish the necessary additional bond(s) for the faithful performance of the Contract, as prescribed in the Contract Documents. All performance bond, payment bond, and certificates of insurance shall be either executed by or countersigned by a licensed resident agent of the surety or insurance company having his place of business in the State of Mississippi and in all ways complying with the insurance laws of the State of Mississippi. Further, the said surety or insurance company shall be duly licensed and qualified to do business in the State of Mississippi.

In order to perform work for projects over $100,000, the successful bidder shall, as applicable, hold or obtain such Contractor's and business licenses as required by state statutes including certification of responsibility required by Section 31-3-21, Mississippi Code of 1972.
As amended, Bidder's certification number or a statement that the Bid inside is less than $50,000 shall appear on the outside or exterior of the bid envelope.

Below a Contract will be awarded for the work contemplated herein, the Owner will conduct investigation as is necessary to determine the performance record and ability of the apparent lowest responsible responsive qualified bidder to perform the size and type of work specified under this Contract. Upon request, the bidder shall submit such information as deemed necessary by the Owner to evaluate the bidder's qualifications.

It is called to the attention of the Bidder that the time of considering or awarding under this Contract is the essence of the Contract.
The right is reserved to reject all bids or any bid not conforming to the intent and purpose of Contract Documents, and to postpone the award of the Contract for a period of time which, however, shall not extend beyond 90 days from the bid opening date.

The Red Baron Pizza Squadron got a little practice Thursday at New Orleans Lakefront Airport in anticipation of the N'Awlins Airshow, which continues through today at the Naval Air Station, Joint Reserve Base on Hwy. 23 in Belle Chasse, La.

Join the Red Baron today at the N'Awlins Air Show

Come celebrate the earliest days of aerobatics and the traveling flying circus of yesteryear with the Red Baron Pizza Squadron and witness Barnstorming at its Best.

The N'Awlins Airshow brings military and civilian performers together for a two-day aerial extravaganza, concluding today, Sunday. The U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds and U.S. Army Golden Knights share the sky with the historic WWII biplanes of the Red Baron Pizza Squadron. This year's featured performers include Matt Chapman, Frank Ryder and the Oreck Cyclone, AeroShell Aerobatic Team, F-14 Tomcat, F-117 Nighthawk, F-18 Hornet and F-15 Eagle demonstration teams.

A CENTENNIAL OF FLIGHT

One hundred years later, the Wright Brothers' successful launch of powered flight in 1903 continues to change our world. Flight remains one of the most stunning and magnificent human achievements. Throughout 2003, across the United States, at airshows, museums and in the classroom, millions of Americans will celebrate 100 years of aviation history. Red Baron pizza is proud to have brought these historic WWII biplanes to millions of children and their families. Red Baron pizza salutes the American spirit of invention and the courage to reach for our dreams.

The Red Baron Pizza Squadron is a modern-day Barnstorming story. The Squadron criss-crosses America every year bringing thrilling aerobatics to children and families at airshows and community events.

The pilots of the Red Baron Squadron fly in formation less than a wingspan apart and perform aerobatic maneuvers such as loops, clover leaves, avalanches and barrel rolls.

ALSO AT THE AIRSHOW

The Cross Into The Blue Tour brings various Air Force "experiences" to life - including "spatial disorientation" pilots may encounter, refueling a jet in mid-air, interacting with Air Force technology and simulating a special ops parachute jump. Gates open at 7 am. Free parking and free admission. Reserved seating will be available on a first come basis for only $5.00. The 2003 N'Awlins Air Show is located at the Naval Air Station, Joint Reserve Base on Hwy. 23 (Belle Chasse Highway) in Belle Chasse, La.

Stephanie Niznik

Checking in With Stephanie Niznik

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

On The WB Network's Monday-night family drama "Everwood," the character of motherly neighbor Nina Feeney now is a regular fixture. That means more brownie-baking for actress Stephanie Niznik - and she couldn't be happier.

"I usually play cops and lawyers and really strong women that have attitude," she says. "I've always played older than I am. Somehow, on 'Everwood,' they saw that that's not who I really am. Nina is very close to me."

"I'm like Martha Stewart. It's nice to not have to kick ass or save the Earth, blow up spiders or whatever."

Previous jobs for Niznik include "Spiders II: The Breeding Ground," "Star Trek: Insurrection" and FBI Agent Judith Phillips in the syndicated series "Vanishing Son."

All roles considered, it's easy to understand why Niznik enjoys "Everwood," even if she had to be pregnant in the pilot, which shot in the snows of Calgary (the show currently films in and around Salt Lake City).

"I totally didn't know I was carrying a surrogate baby," Niznik says. "I was baby-sitting all my friends' babies, after the pilot, thinking I would be caring for an infant, then I got this script with a surrogate baby. I thought, 'No more free baby-sitting service.'"

Nina was married in season one, which kept her at arm's length from neighbor Dr. Andy Brown (Treat Williams), who still was grieving over his wife's death. This year, it's Nina's turn, as she copes with the end of her marriage to Carl ("Nip/Tuck" star Dylan Walsh), who admitted last season that he was gay.

"Nina felt she had a pretty good grip on her life," Niznik says. "What I can tell so far, she's really thrown. Everything she knows is gone."

And it's not that Niznik saw that one coming. "I was shocked as heck. I'm on a complete need-to-know-last basis. So, when I got that script, I went, 'Noooo!' I think Dylan was pretty shocked himself. "Poor Nina. She's in a limbo period."

Birthplace: Bangor, Maine.
Education: MFA from Duke University.

Superstitious behavior: While being directed by "Witchblade" producer Ralph Hemecker, Niznik fell off a horse and broke her leg. "Every time after that, I'd come into auditions, he'd be like, 'I like you, but you're bad luck.'"

Featured 'Naked World' reveals how folks feel about public nudity

By Jacqueline Cutler

There is something disconcerting about seeing naked people where they are least expected, such as in Times Square or in front of the Cutty Sark on the English waterfront.

Spencer Tunick has made a career of snapping photos of naked people in public. His latest project - photographing nudes on the seven continents - is documented in "Naked World" on HBO's "America Undercover" series Sunday, Nov. 2.

Filmmaker Arlene Donnelly Nelson masterfully condenses 18 months of work, including nine months of international travel, into a lively documentary showing how attitudes toward nudity reflect each country's mores.

In Russia, where folks are still shedding communism's conformity, the concept of the individual body is intriguing. In Ireland, as a young man strips, he explains this is yet another way of showing the church does not hold sway over him. And in France, surprisingly, people reject the notion. "We are very open-minded with nudity in art," a woman explains. "We are very narrow-minded with nudity in life."

This begs the question as to whether Tunick is - as he promulgates at every possible moment - an artist. The most conservative might argue that he is a pornographer, which is a stretch considering the photos are not sexual. Rather, the oddly compelling aspect of his work is that when enough naked people pose together, they assume a strange new dimension, reminiscent of an amorphous blob.

Tom Selleck

Tom Selleck on "CBS at 75" Sunday, Nov. 2, recalls his start in show business. "I remember Ed Asner being real nice to me. Later on, we got to work together and become friends. I got to give him his Lifetime

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

Nov. 2 through Nov. 8, 2003
Aries (March 21 - April 20)

A relationship might take you to new heights right now, and you'll be wanting to get away with this person. See if you can plan a vacation.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Values may have shifted when it comes to planning for the future with a family member. Try looking at it from a new perspective.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

A partner will be your guiding light right now, working with you in your time of need. Be sure to remember how helpful this person was.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

Balance is key, Cancer, and your health regimen, or lack thereof, could be severely lacking in this balance. Take a look at it.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Children or youth will be your joy right now, taking your mind off of troubling situations. Because of this, your values may change.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

If you are looking into the purchase of property, be sure to buy exactly what you want. You'll regret it later if you don't buy what makes you happy.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

What is it that you value in other people, Libra? This is the question you need to start asking yourself.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

Luxury is something you know how to do without, preferring function to comfort. But you might buy something that goes against your practical nature.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

You'll appear very attractive to others right now, so be sure to use that charm to your advantage. But don't mislead anyone.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

It's time for you to take stock in your belief system, and ask yourself where you are going. Look at what you plan on doing with yourself.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Friends and family will want to spend time with you, so make time for them. You'll also have the chance to make a wish come true.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

This is a good time to get ahead on the job, so if you've been eyeing a way to make more cash, go for it.

Fox lights up Sunday nights with 'arresting' new comedy

By John Crook
© Zap2it

The Fox network has had some strikingly good luck with sitcoms about dysfunctional families - think "The Simpsons" and "Malcolm in the Middle" - and the network adds another candidate to that winner's circle starting Sunday, Nov. 2.

"Arrested Development," from Ron Howard's Imagine Television production company, mines laughs at the expense of the embattled Bluth family. Most of the events are viewed from the perspective of son Michael (Jason Bateman), a young widower who just wants to provide a good life for his 13-year-old son, George Michael (Michael Cera).

The rest of his clan isn't making that easy by any means. George Bluth Sr. (Jeffrey Tambor), the family patriarch, is busted for dubious accounting strategies in the series premiere, putting a severe crimp in the style of mom Lucille (Jessica Walter at her snippiest), who has always viewed the assets of The Bluth Development Company as one big cookie jar full of available cash.

Their eldest son, George Oscar Bluth II (Will Arnett) - called GOB (pronounced like the biblical Job) for short - is a struggling magician who can never pull a successful career out of his hat. Youngest son Buster (Tory Hale) is a screamingly insecure professional student prone to panic attacks.

Closest to Michael is his twin sister, Lindsay Funke ("Ally McBeal" alumna Portia de Rossi, showing unexpectedly sophisticated comedy chops), who lives for her wine-and-cheese fund-raisers to benefit liberal causes she champions with her dweebish husband, Tobias (iconoclastic comic David Cross). Fortunately, their 14-year-old daughter Mae (Alia Shawkat) nicknamed "Maebby," is resourceful enough not to need any hands-on supervision by her two at-sea parents.

Written by former "Golden Girls" scribe Mitch Hurwitz and filmed in a pseudo-documentary camera style that recalls the funniest episode of "Cops" never made, "Arrested Development" benefits further from the deadpan off-camera narration of Ron Howard himself, an indication of how much this busy producer-director believes in the series.

"There's nothing traditional about the way this show is being done," Howard says. "The documentary style, kind of reality show approach, has guided the sensibility of this."

Certainly, "Arrested Development" is packed with characters that are over the top and self-absorbed, but the show's creators have shrewdly placed the immensely likable Bateman at the center of the show. Howard laughs off suggestions that the 34-year-old actor, best known for his years on "The Hogan Family," was cast because he, like Howard, is a former child star.

"The people we cast in our show just 'got' their characters in a way that other very talented performers did not," Howard says. "A lot of former child actors develop bad habits that don't translate into an adult career, but Jason didn't do that. He can create characters the rest of his life that are strong, funny, entertaining, dramatic, whatever they're supposed to be, because he's got a great foundation."

And this unconventional show came along at just the right time for Michael Cera, Jason Bateman and Portia de Rossi (from left) play members of a wealthy clan facing financial ruin in "Arrested Development," a new Fox sitcom debuting Sunday.

Bateman, who had become discouraged after a string of one-season wonders such as "Chicago Sons," "George and Leo" and "Some of My Best Friends."

"I got a little burned out on doing (conventional sitcoms) because, let's face it, there really are only a limited number of jokes that work, even if you dress them up in different ways," Bateman says. "I actually was getting to the point where I thought, 'Well, I've done all the jokes.'"

"I did some directing, and actually was kind of leaning toward doing that full time, but then I kept getting other acting jobs."

He says he has no problem playing what amounts to the straight man on the show.

'ER' psycho wasn't Chandler's roomie

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q ■ My boyfriend insists that the guy who killed Lucy and stabbed Carter on "ER" is the same psycho roommate that Chandler had briefly on "Friends." He isn't right, is he? - Janette L., Casper, Wyo.

A ■ No. David Krumholtz, who co-stars in this fall's new NBC drama "The Lyon's Den," played Paul Sobricki, the disturbed patient who attacked Lucy and Carter in "Be Still My Heart," the Feb. 10, 2000, episode of "ER."

That was Adam Goldberg from "Saving Private Ryan" and "How to Lose a Guy in 10 Days" as Eddie Menuck, the nut job who briefly moved in with Chandler in early 1996 on "Friends."

Q ■ I notice that when John Thaw ("Inspector Morse") walks, he moves as if he might have had a knee replacement or something. Can you shed any light on this? -Roberta Bowser, Jackson, Mich.

David Krumholtz

A ■ Thaw, who died of cancer in 2002, had a slight limp from an accident at age 15, when he broke his foot by tripping over a curb.

Q ■ Where did Benjamin McKenzie of "The O.C." grow up? -Craig in Brea, Calif.

A ■ Unlike his troubled "O.C." character, McKenzie was born into an upper-class family in Austin, Texas, and earned a degree in foreign affairs and economics from the University of Virginia. The nephew of 1992 Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Robert Schenkkan ("The Kentucky Cycle"), the 25-year-old actor honed his craft in the New York theater before moving to Los Angeles and, after a couple of minor TV roles, landing the role of Ryan Atwood on "The O.C."

It bears remarking that McKenzie is a polite, articulate and talented young man who deserves much success.

Q ■ My sister insists that Lawrence Welk's son is married to Anacani, a singer featured on the Welk show. Is she correct? -Dolores Lewis, Jamestown, N.Y.

A ■ No. Now 49, the Mexican vocalist Anacani, who joined the Welk show in 1973, has been married since 1978 to Rudy Echeverria. She was never married to Lawrence Welk Jr., whose wife is named Lynn.

PBS revisits beloved epic romance with 'Doctor Zhivago'

By John Crook
© Zap2it

"Masterpiece Theatre" forsakes its usual British stiff upper lip for a Russian accent as the series presents a new adaptation of Boris Pasternak's epic romance "Doctor Zhivago."

The two-part, four-hour TV movie premieres Sunday, Nov. 2, and concludes Nov. 9, on PBS (check local listings).

Hans Matheson, the Scottish actor best known to most U.S. audiences for his chilling turn as the evil Mordred in the TNT movie "The Mists of Avalon," takes over the title role made famous by Omar Sharif in the 1965 movie blockbuster from director David Lean, while English beauty Keira Knightley ("Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl") is Lara, the role played so luminously by Julie Christie in the Lean film.

Adding star power and stealing every scene in which he appears is Sam Neill, giving a juicy turn as unscrupulous Victor Komarovsky, the villain played by Rod Steiger in 1965.

If Neill seems to be having the time of his life, that's because, frankly, he is, in a project that was a labor of love for the New Zealand actor.

"There is just so much to play with a villain like Komarovsky, so in a sense my job is much easier than the one Hans faced, because Zhivago is a very difficult role to play and I take my hat off to him," Neill says. "Hans has that crucial goodness and sweetness that the character demands, because this is a very good man who is torn by circumstances and forced to act against his better nature."

"Komarovsky is a terrible man, but you've got to love him," the actor adds, laughing.

Written by Andrew Davies ("The Way We Live Now") and filmed in eastern Europe, this PBS adaptation hits most of the plot points from the Lean movie but also throws previously unexplored aspects of Pasternak's novel into startling relief.

Among the surprises, Zhivago's wife Tonya, played as a simpering twit by Geraldine Chaplin in the Lean epic, emerges as a strong and formidable woman as portrayed by Romanian actress Alexandra Maria Lara.

"When they suggested this project to me, I thought it was an outrageous idea, because I thought the previous film was really great," Davies says. "Then I went back and read the book again, and I found that what I thought were my memories of the book were really memories of the film. There was lots in the book that wasn't in the film."

Neill says he loved the Lean film when he saw it during its original run - "I thought Julie Christie was the most gorgeous thing I'd ever seen in my life and it seemed very cold," he recalls - but when he read the book he realized there were many facets that were left unexplored.

When the Iron Curtain fell, Neill called British producer Verity Lambert, who had worked with him on "Reilly: The Ace of Spies," and proposed a miniseries adaptation of "Zhivago."

"She said, 'What a great idea!' then I never heard from her again," Neill says. "It was 12 years later when I got the call inviting me to be a part of this 'Zhivago,' and I said, 'Yes, please.'"

Casting a handsome leading man like Neill opposite the teenage Knightley gives a potent erotic charge to the scenes between these two characters. It's readily apparent that Komarovsky is the agent of Lara's sexual awakening and, while she may loathe him in most regards, their liaisons are undeniably hot for both.

"What's fascinating about the relationship between Lara and Komarovsky is how it's affected by the shifts in power between them," Neill muses. "At the beginning, Lara is sort of disempowered and helpless against him, but she acquires a great power through this sexual hold she has over him. That shift of power keeps happening throughout the story."

"I first saw 'Doctor Zhivago' when I was 5," says Knightley, now 18. "My dad fancied Julie Christie, so when he heard that I'd got the part, he thought it was the most ridiculous thing ever."

"I decided not to watch the film again after I got the role, but I have read the book about three times, so I know it very well. I also did a lot of research into the period."

Neill says he discovered how on-target Pasternak's portrait of Komarovsky was when the actor visited Russia three years ago.

"I looked around and discovered that Russia is full of Komarovskys, and probably always has been - men who are able to move from capitalism to socialism and back again, and even somehow flourish, because they are willing to do whatever it takes," Neill says.

Keira Knightley is Lara Antipova and Sam Neill plays Victor Komarovsky, Lara's seducer, in a new adaptation of "Doctor Zhivago," beginning Sunday on PBS (check local listings).

"On a personal level, he's obviously a terrible womanizer who becomes strongly smitten with this beautiful young girl. I think men like that are very lonely on a certain level, and that's an interesting thing to play."

Davies emphasizes that the new "Masterpiece Theatre" version of "Doctor Zhivago" is an adaptation of Pasternak's novel, not a remake of Lean's film - "If you want to see that one, you can walk into any Blockbuster and rent it," he says - but Knightley says she hopes this new version will bring the touching story to a new generation.

"The sad fact is that no one of my generation would go into a Blockbuster and take out the David Lean movie," she says bluntly. "I think this is a really, really important story to tell again and again, and ... I think it was about time we reintroduced it to a new generation."

"People re-adapt 'Nicholas Nickleby' every two years and no one seems to mind," Neill adds. "This has been a long time between drinks, honestly, and this is one of the great novels of the 20th century, hands down. I'm surprised it hasn't been adapted before now. It was kind of asking for it, if you ask me."

Many stars gather to wish CBS a happy 75th birthday

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Much of the CBS "eye" is in the sky this weekend.

Many of the network's past and present stars are winging their way to New York for "CBS at 75," a three-hour special to be broadcast Sunday, Nov. 2 (live in the Eastern half of the country).

Staged by veteran Oscar-show producer Gilbert Cates, the program will evoke a nightclub feel at the Hammerstein Ballroom, with celebrities seated around tables instead of in rows of seats. A television on each table will give stars close-up views of classic clips and, in turn, viewers will get close-ups of the stars' reactions.

Tom Selleck, Angela Lansbury, Mary Tyler Moore, Carol Burnett, Andy Griffith, Alan Alda, Larry Hagman, Walter Cronkite, Candice Bergen, Charlie Sheen and Amy Brenneman are among the many others slated to salute CBS, which debuted in 1928 as a network of 16 radio stations.

Selleck's strongest tie to CBS remains his Emmy-winning part as the Hawaii-based private detective in "Magnum, P.I.," but he became part of the network's family earlier. In the mid-1970s, he spent a year as Jed Andrews on the venerable daytime serial "The Young and the Restless." However, he reflects, "It'll be nice to see 'Magnum' put in the proper perspective. I think people forget it was nominated for the Emmy for Outstanding Drama Series a couple of times."

"It's still one of my biggest thrills that when the show was over, I was asked to go to Washington, D.C., and put Magnum's Hawaiian shirt and Detroit Tigers cap and team ring into the Smithsonian. It was a recognition of something we really fought for early on, and not without risk. 'Magnum' was the first show to acknowledge Vietnam War veterans in a positive light (Thomas Magnum was one), so it has a place in history. It couldn't have been any better for me, but so many other people were associated with the show, it deserves to be paid tribute."

On "CBS at 75," Selleck will introduce a segment on Westerns such as "Gunsmoke," and he is taking time out from another CBS project - a miniseries of Scott Turow's book "Reversible Errors" - to fly in from Nova Scotia for the 75th-anniversary gala.

He says, "The first thing I ever had to do, once CBS bought 'Magnum,' was to appear at an affiliate event where they paraded all the network's stars. I knew I was going to go out there and no one would know who I was. I recently did 'Good Morning America' and asked Diane Sawyer if she remembered where we first met. It was at that CBS event. We were next to each other alphabetically." (Sawyer was at CBS News then.)

With her series "Judging Amy" now in its fifth year, Amy Brenneman is a CBS relative of later vintage. Proud that the network bought the show, which was inspired by her superior-court-judge mother, she enjoys uniting with CBS stars on occasions that normally are limited to the Emmys and the Golden Globe Awards.

"Back in March," Brenneman recalls, "(CBS chairman and CEO) Les Moonves was given a broadcasting honor, and I was flown there with Ray Romano and Jeff Probst. We met up with Billy Petersen ('CSI: Crime Scene Investigation'), who I made a movie with, and it really was a nice vibe. It's fun to get to dress up and be glamorous, but there's also a real camaraderie. You do what they do every day, and there really aren't a lot of people who understand that."

"Judging Amy" star and producer Amy Brenneman is among the many CBS stars who will gather at the Hammerstein Ballroom in New York to celebrate the network's 75th anniversary on "CBS at 75," a three-hour special airing Sunday on - where else? - CBS.

Crawford enjoying 'Cold Pizza' for breakfast

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

Jay Crawford is excited about his role as co-host of ESPN2's new weekday morning sports-entertainment offering "Cold Pizza."

"It's fun to be Charlie from 'Charlie's Angels,'" Crawford says of his on-screen cohorts, co-host Kit Hoover ("American Journal"), news anchor Leslie Maxie ("National Sports Report") and reporter Thea Andrews ("Playmakers"). "I get to have three hot girls with me every day. That doesn't stink. Like I said, it's an easy gig. I told all my buddies in Florida, I could come to work and be awful and I think the show's still going to be fun to watch...."

"And Kit's great. I couldn't be any happier. I've never worked with anyone I felt that instant chemistry with. She's something else - a fireplug. You never know what she's going to say. She makes me pay attention."

Having premiered Oct. 20, "Cold Pizza" endeavors to offer an alternative to more traditional fare such as "Today," "Good Morning America" or even "SportsCenter" over on sister network ESPN, with its mix of sports, pop-culture, entertainment and lifestyle features, all customized for the ESPN audience. Among the nontraditional fare viewers can look for are segments on where the sports and entertainment worlds intersect, the morning headlines as seen by a sports or non-sports celebrity, rumors and gossip, Internet chats and video-game reviews.

The live two-hour show also has components more familiar to morning viewers, such as a midtown Manhattan studio that allows fans to watch the production from an indoor viewing area.

It all adds up to something that Crawford hopes will distinguish itself from the rest of the breakfast-time field. How different will it be? Crawford cites a hypothetical segment on a recent Dallas Cowboys-New York Giants game as an example. "Instead of doing the typical preview," he explains, "we would definitely take the Parcells-is-coming-home angle. This time, he is on the other sideline as a member of the Dallas Cowboys, of all teams. But we would try to spin that whole thing in a different way. We might go find the cook at the restaurant that he calls his hangout in New York City. So we might look at things a little differently."

Since this is a show aimed at casual sports fans, "Cold Pizza" will also seek to explain significant sports current events in layman's terms. "It's not going to be a real highlight-driven show in that we sit down and we show you the way the game unfolded," he says. "Everybody's done that. They've done it on prime time; they've done it on the postgame shows; they've done it on 'SportsCenter.' And that's probably not what our audience wants. Odds are, the people that are watching us are probably the casual sports fan that might know that 295 yards rushing sounds like a lot, but let me put that in perspective for you, what that really means."

After 15 years of doing local sports news at TV stations in Columbus, Ohio, and Tampa, Fla., Crawford acknowledges that "Cold Pizza" represents somewhat of a departure for himself as well. "I've done four-minute sportscasts, three times a day, and this is a two-hour show that's personality-driven," he says. "A lot of this is ad-lib, which has always been my strength. As a sports guy, I've done a lot of play-by-play, too. You're kind of filling the canvas as you see it and as it unfolds."

"So I think on one hand, being a sports guy, I think you're better equipped to deal with that because a lot of what we do is free-form and ad-lib anyhow. Even when I was doing my cast, there wasn't a tremendous amount of scripted material. I try not to write myself and tie myself to scripts anyhow. But they're necessary in some areas of the show, and in other areas of the show, we'll just be winging it."

"But I feel comfortable doing that," he says. "If I had to list my strengths, that would be up near the top."

He also lists chemistry with his co-stars as being among the show's strengths. "I've never worked with anybody where I've had instant chemistry with my co-workers like I do with these guys," he says. "They're amazing. But then again, what guy wouldn't slide into the role of having three young, hip, witty co-hosts. It doesn't stink to be me right now."

"NASCAR Winston Cup Checker Auto Parts 500" Sunday, Nov. 2 (NBC, 3:10 p.m. ET): After recently scoring his lowest finishes of the season at Talladega and in Kansas, Matt Kenseth gave life to his closest competitors on the Winston Cup leaderboard. But Kenseth responded with an eighth-place finish at Lowe's, setting up what could be a clinching run today in the Checker Auto Parts 500 at Phoenix International Raceway. It most certainly would be a day of celebration if Kenseth repeats his Checker win of last year.

"Green Bay Packers at Minnesota Vikings" Sunday, Nov. 2 (ESPN, 8:30 p.m. ET): The Minnesota Vikings are proof positive of how parity works in the NFL. A 6-10 finish last season resulted in a "friendlier" schedule this year, helping the Vikes race out to a 5-0 start. Divisional rival Green Bay gets a chance tonight to avenge one of those Minnesota wins, but they'll need to do a better job defending Randy Moss. The All-World receiver caught nine balls for 150 yards and a touchdown in Minny's 30-25 Week 1 win over the Pack.

"Denver Nuggets at Cleveland Cavaliers" Wednesday, Nov. 5 (ESPN, 8 p.m.): If you're not a Cavaliers or Nuggets fan, you may be after a season's worth of television time for both teams, starting tonight when they face each other in Cleveland. Two teenagers - No. 1 overall pick LeBron James of the Cavs and Denver's No. 3 choice Carmelo Anthony - are the latest faces of the NBA's marketing machine. But, they'll be brought along slowly, since the pressure to carry two of the league's doormats could hinder any player's budding career.

Movie: The Secret Garden

Kate Maberly stars as Mary Lennox, the orphaned British girl sent to live with her reclusive uncle in this 1993 version of the Frances Hodgson Burnett story. When Mary arrives at her uncle's vast estate, she is befriended by a local boy (Andrew Knott) who leads her to a decaying garden. Mostly ignored by her guardian, Mary finds purpose in bringing the flowers back to life and helping her cousin, who has been hidden away by his overprotective father.

Movie: Squanto: A Warrior's Tale

This 1994 adventure stars Adam Beach ("Mystery, Alaska") as the American Indian who befriended the Pilgrims. The story begins years before their arrival, with Squanto being kidnapped by a despicable British merchant (Michael Gambon) and taken back to England to be exhibited. He escapes his captor's clutches and takes refuge — and English lessons — in a monastery, eventually making his

Movie: The Great Outdoors

John Candy stars in this 1988 comedy as a regular Joe — make that Chet — who takes his family to the woods for a much-needed vacation. It's shaping up as the perfect getaway, until the arrival of Chet's brother-in-law (Dan Aykroyd) — an obnoxious yuppie with an equally annoying family. Stephanie Faracy and Annette Bening also star, along with a large, vicious bear desperately in need of a Hair Club membership.

Movie: The Karate Kid

Troubled teen Daniel (Ralph Macchio) learns the secret of standing up to bullies in this 1984 drama. Guess what; it's not just knowing how to run faster, jump higher and hit harder. A sympathetic martial-arts master (Noriyuki "Pat" Morita) helps him to discipline his body, mind and spirit through a series of tough but gentle lessons, including the most important one of all: Use what you've learned about kicking posterior only when absolutely necessary.

7 p.m. and HBO

Movie: Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets

A mysterious force threatens Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in the totally captivating second movie adapted from J.K. Rowling's novels. Harry, Ron and Hermione (Daniel Radcliffe, Rupert Grint, Emma Watson) must find out what is causing people known as Mudbloods from becoming petrified; otherwise, the school will be closed. Robbie Coltrane, Kenneth Branagh and Richard Harris co-star in this 2002 tale.

TV Trivia

Diane Keaton ("On Thin Ice") was raised in California, but dropped out of Santa Ana College to study drama in New York.

Laurence Fishburne ("The Matrix") is an advocate of rehabilitating child soldiers, and became a UNICEF ambassador in 1996.

Vince Gill ("The 37th Annual CMA Awards") began his musical career in high school by playing with a band called Mountain Smoke.

Morgan Freeman ("The Shawshank Redemption") collected refundable bottles as a child to pay for movie admissions.

Don Rickles ("Casino") refuses to use writers for his comedy routines, and relies on instinct to know when a joke should stay in the act.

Movie: Follow the Stars Home

Kimberly Williams ("According to Jim") stars in this 2001 drama as a single mom struggling to raise a daughter with severe disabilities. Despite having no husband — the cad (Eric Close, "Without a Trace") walked out when she refused to abort — she's not quite alone; she has her own mom (Blair Brown) and a 12-year-old helper (Alexa Vega). And waiting patiently on the sidelines is a doctor (Campbell Scott), her ex's brother.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Alias

Former cast regular Merrin Dungey returns as Allison, the late Francie's sinister look-alike, in the new episode "The Nemesis." Sydney (Jennifer Garner) is stunned to learn the supposedly deceased Allison is playing a major role in the Covenant's operations. Additionally, Sydney is ordered to oversee Sloane (Ron Rifkin) in his new CIA role.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Tarzan

Jane's (Sarah Wayne Callies) sister, Nicki (Leighton Meester), risks her life trying to find a missing friend in the new episode "Emotional Rescue." Tarzan (Travis Fimmel) can't resist racing to the rescue, despite Jane's pleas that he stay safely hidden.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

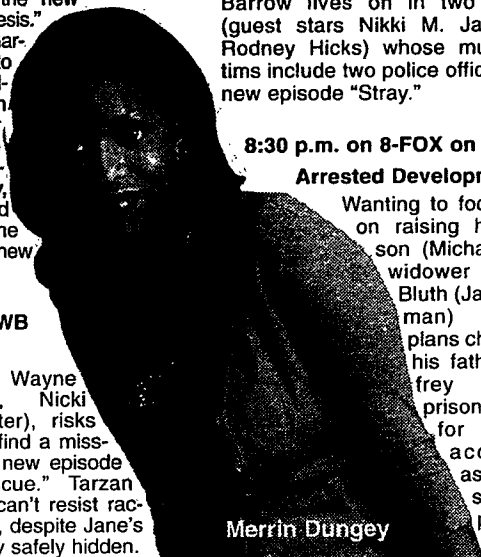

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

The deadly spirit of Depression-era gangsters Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow lives on in two fugitives (guest stars Nikki M. James and Rodney Hicks) whose murder victims include two police officers in the new episode "Stray."

All My Children

Derek and Justin overheard Kendall wishing that Ryan were dead. Ryan made light of the threat, but after Kendall gave Ryan some of Michael's pills for his allergy attack, and he later took more of them, he passed out, a poisoning victim. Bianca revealed to Kendall that it was partly her words that convinced Bianca to keep her baby, as the sisters drew closer. To protect Greenlee, Pablo kept her at arm's length and accused her of tipping off the reporters to Carlos' whereabouts. Mary promised Adam that she would take care of his problems with Babe. Adam and David grew more suspicious of each other. Coming: Kendall is charged with a serious crime.

As the World Turns

Chris broke up with Alison as Lucy broke up with Aaron. Aaron and Alison's comforting of one another led to love-making. Later, Aaron and Lucy reconciled, while Chris tried to find out whom Alison had been with. Trying to stop Marshall from leaving town with Sarah, Bonnie and he got into a shoving match, ending when Marshall plummeted out the window to his death. Bonnie was later arrested for murder. Will lied to Paul that he trashed the apartment, all part of Barbara's plan. Rose smelled Barbara's involvement and intended to prove it. Coming: Questions for Rosanna regarding the baby.

Bold and Beautiful

Ridge was overjoyed at the prospect that Brooke might be pregnant, while she was nervous as they awaited the test results. Pressed by Jackie, Nick admitted that he and Brooke were intimate in Puerto Vista, but doesn't want anyone else to know. Oscar drew closer to Bridget and they shared a kiss. Meanwhile, Amber had her own agenda to get Oscar for herself and encouraged Deacon to pursue his interest in Bridget. Thorne surprised Darla with the Forrester christening gown and welcomed her into the family. Consumed by anger and grief, Sally remained determined to get even with Brooke. Coming: If Brooke is pregnant, who's the father?

Days of Our Lives

After finding Nicole and Brady in yet another compromising position, Victor told Nicole he would give her a divorce settlement. However, Victor warned, if Nicole doesn't leave Salem, she'll be arrested for Colin, Abe and Jack's murders - if she lives that long. Roman came upon Kate menacing Sami with a letter opener following another of their battles, and Kate made a shocking admission, as Roman now saw her motive for murder. As Maggie prepared to name the killer, Celeste read her tarot card and was horrified to see the death card. Belle said goodbye to Shawn as she left to work for Basic Black in Milan. John was certain Stefano has programmed Rex. Coming: Is Maggie the killer's next victim?

General Hospital

After Sonny helped deliver his and Carly's son, Morgan, she was rushed to the hospital where surgeons removed the bullet from her brain. A comatose Carly dreamed of romance with Alcazar, while Sonny was charged with attempted murder. Faith ordered a massacre at the meeting of the five families where Jason, attending for Sonny, barely survived, as Faith told Sonny he'll follow her orders from now on. Emily declared her love for Nikolas and they became intimate for the first time. The Dead Man's hand kept changing hands, from Dillon to Sam to Luke to Jax. However, someone piped gas through the vent at Luke's, and a person dressed in an astronaut costume stole the cards. Coming: Zander is out for revenge.

Guiding Light

Sandy finally admitted to Reva that he is her son, Jonathan Randall. Stunned to learn that Sandy is really her brother, Marah fled as Tony looked on. The fashion show was a success despite threats from some neighborhood thugs, but as Danny offered congratulations, Nico attempted to hide that he's been stabbed. Jeffrey's attitude about their relationship prompted Beth to take offense and storm off. Coming: Marah feels deceived regarding Sandy's identity.

One Life to Live

Cristian struggled with Flynn and ended up his hostage, allowing Natalie to escape. Later, Antonio broke the news that Cristian is dead, and Natalie blamed John for allowing the tragedy to happen. Kevin learned from Elyssa's report that Walker is Todd, while Walker planned to kill Flynn to keep his secret safe. When Jen refused to sleep with him, Rex paid someone to tell Joey about her miscarriage, but Joey told Jen that he's not angry with her. Later, Jen agreed to have a drink at Rex's apartment. Jessica moved in with Antonio. Coming: Al finds a way to stay with Marcie for good.

Passions

Rebecca was irate when Julian offered to fly Eve, T.C. and Liz to Los Angeles, but wouldn't let her take the Crane jet to visit Gwen. A violent fight erupted on the plane and Julian tried to save Eve, who was about to fall out of the aircraft. The cops attempted to apprehend Charlie after Sheridan confirmed that Charlie had kidnapped her. Beth feared the outcome if Luis learns the truth about her scheme against Sheridan. Puff Dog held Chad at knifepoint. Gwen set out to avenge her daughter's death. Coming: Charlie fires at Luis.

Young and Restless

Lily confronted Kevin and threatened to tell the police what he did, but backed off when he picked up a letter opener, and left, still vowing to make him pay. Nick told Becker, the federal prosecutor, that Victor was involved in a bribery scheme. Brad blamed himself for the breakdown that left Ashley catatonic in the hospital. Paul told Chris he's moving out because he can't be around her, given his consuming desire. Lauren offered Paul her support and they shared a kiss. Brittany blamed J.T. when he and Paul went along with her parents' scheme, and the liquor authority temporarily closed down Marsino's. Coming: Damon follows up on an exciting discovery.

Napiera Danielle has disappeared. Her character, Bonnie McKechnie, was written into a corner in CBS' "As the World Turns" and now, she's gone. For Danielle, the news that she'd been let go came earlier than expected. Her contract isn't up for a few more months.

While the producers of the show say they are only trimming characters who don't have strong story lines, Danielle is the third black actor to be cut from the cast this fall. The others are Paul Taylor (Isaac Jenkins) and Lamman Rucker (T. Marshall Travers).

The firings continue on NBC's "Days of Our Lives." Alexis Thorpe, who plays Cassie DiMera, was the latest to find out she had been cut from the roster.

Dear Candace: I was wondering about the woman who plays Bonnie (Judi Evans), Mimi's mom. Is she the same actress who played Adrienne in "Days of Our Lives" before? -Carrie S. via the Internet

Dear Reader: Judi Evans did play Adrienne Johnson from 1986-1991.

Dear Candace: Please tell me who the actor was who played Father Todd Williams in "The Young and the Restless"? I know I've seen him on lots of things. -Roz in Ohio.

Dear Reader: That's Corbin Bernsen, who is best known for his role of Arnie Becker in "L.A. Law." He has done several other television series and films.

His mother is Jeanne Cooper, who plays Katherine Chancellor on "Y&R."

Dear Candace: I think it's high time "Guiding Light" did something with the clothes and hairstyles of the women on the show. The men always look well-groomed, but the women are a mess.

Their hair is always in their eyes, and it's so straight. The clothes might be fashionable, but they don't look good on television. And they can clean up the language. Reva (Kim Zimmer) really needs to watch her mouth. -W. Wojcik, Warren, Mich.

Dear Reader: "GL" is one of the more fashionable shows on the air and usually follows the trends, especially for the younger characters.

Jesus, Mary and Da Vinci

Questions posed by the best-selling novel "The Da Vinci Code" are examined by ABC News correspondent Elizabeth Vargas in this new special. The program takes her to Italy, France and the Holy Land itself as she probes for the truth behind recent allegations about Jesus and Mary Magdalene that have shaken religious and historical scholars. Among them is the claim that Mary may have given birth to Jesus' child.

Movie: La Bamba

Lou Diamond Phillips stars in this acclaimed 1987 biodrama as Ritchie Valens, the teenage Latin American rock star whose red-hot career was cut short by the 1959 plane crash remembered as "the day the music died." Esai Morales and Elizabeth Pena also star. The band Los Lobos delivers a memorable soundtrack, including a rendition of Valens' hit "La Bamba."

Movie: The Object of My Affection

Jennifer Aniston ("Friends") stars in this 1998 romantic comedy, which reinforces the popular wisdom among single women that "all the good ones are gay." Her character, Nina, is pregnant but has fallen completely out of love with the baby's father (John Pankow). Her male roommate (Paul Rudd) is more the type she'd rather Though they've been banned from seeing each other, Jewel and Adam (Olivia Wilde, D.J. Cotrona) still find a way to hook up in the new episode "Endorsement." They rendezvous at an event that honors his father, District Attorney Thomas Roam (Kevin Anderson), and vilifies hers, pornographer Larry Goldman (Ron Silver). Goldman makes a sizable contribution to Roam's re-election campaign. Chris Sarandon and JoBeth Williams guest star.

7 p.m. on 38-WB Gilmore Girls

Citizens of Stars Hollow, including Lorelai and Rory (Lauren Graham, Alexis Bledel) portray figures in classic paintings in the new episode "The Festival of Living Art." When Sookie (Melissa McCarthy) fears her baby won't be born by the expected date, Lorelai relates how her own delivery went. A guitarist (guest star Sebastian Bach of the group Skid Row) auditions for Lane's (Keiko Agena) group.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS Nova

"Welcome to the 11th Dimension," the concluding episode of the new miniseries "The Elegant Universe," explains how five different theories about the link between nature's forces was unified into just one. It implies that parallel universes are not just figments of science fiction, but worlds that truly can exist — and all of mankind may be living in one of them now, or so physicist Brian Greene and others suggest.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX 24

Trying to get a lead on the source of the virus that may be released by an enemy, Jack and Chase (Kiefer Sutherland, James Badge Dale) are led to a teenager (guest star Riley Smith) being used as a drug courier in the new episode "Day 3: 2:00 — 3:00 PM." Dr. Macer (guest star Christina Chang) gives President Palmer (Dennis Haysbert) sobering news about how quickly the virus could spread.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS The Guardian

Nick (Simon Baker) tries to help an ex-client he encounters at a park while performing community service in the new episode "Hazel Park." He also becomes concerned when he sees a prostitute leave her child in a car. Burton (Dabney Coleman) considers adopting Shannon (Amanda Michalka). Erich Anderson ("Felicity") and Tracy Lynn Middelendorf ("24") guest star in the story directed by actor Emilio Estevez.

8 p.m. on 38-WB One Tree Hill

A party in honor of the basketball team, thrown annually by Dan and Deb (Paul Johansson, Barbara Alyn Woods), stirs a variety of emotions in the new episode "Life in a Glass House." Lucas (Chad Michael Murray) makes a romantic play for Peyton (Hilarie Burton). Nathan and Haley (James Lafferty, Bethany Joy Lenz) are on the verge of sharing something deeper, until a rumor about Haley surfaces.

8:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Less Than Perfect

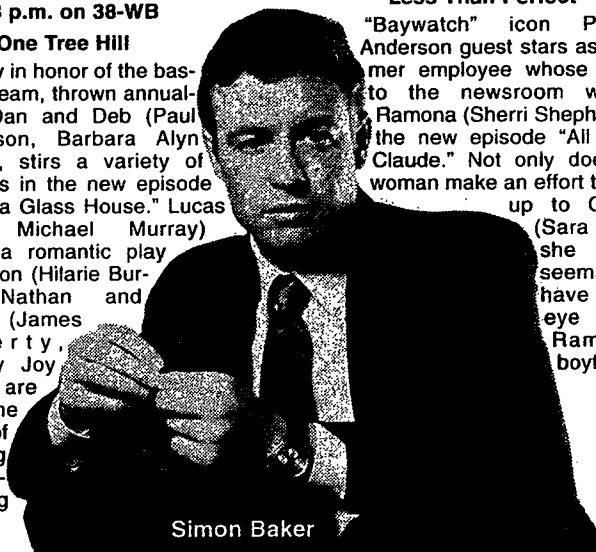

"Baywatch" icon Pamela Anderson guest stars as a former employee whose return to the newsroom worries Ramona (Sherri Shepherd) in the new episode "All About Claude." Not only does the woman make an effort to cozy up to Claude (Sara Rue), she also seems to have her eye on Ramona's boyfriend.

8:30 p.m. on 6-NBC Frasier

Will Niles' (David Hyde Pierce) ex-wife, Maris, finally be seen? It's a possibility in the new episode "Maris Returns," directed by series star Kelsey Grammer. Indeed, Maris does resurface in Niles' life, and he is hesitant to tell Daphne (Jane Leeves). Frasier's (Grammer) return to private practice is greeted by several trying patients (guest stars Penny Johnson Jerald, Sarah Silverman and Dan Castellaneta).

9 p.m. on 26-ABC NYPD Blue

The serial killer being sought by the police detectives has let one victim get away, or so Sipowicz (Dennis Franz) believes, in the new episode "It's to Die For." A patron of the bar that is ground zero for the assaults is attacked by someone who may be the murderer. Russell (Kim Delaney) continues to work the case while facing a personal crisis, since she's scheduled to have a biopsy.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

Unsure what to do — if anything — about their broken relationship, Jackie and Hyde (Mila Kunis, Danny Masterson) seek advice from Kelso (Ashton Kutcher) in the new episode "Join Together." Eric (Topher Grace) bids farewell to Donna (Laura Prepon), again and again, as she gets ready to move away on her own. Kitty (Debra Jo Rupp) tries to support Red (Kurtwood Smith) by dieting along with him.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The 37th Annual CMA Awards

Vince Gill continues his streak by returning for the 12th consecutive year as host of this event, televised from the Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville, Tenn. Indicating that the roster of performers won't be limited just to country stars, Norah Jones — the queen of this year's Grammy Awards — is slated to do a duet with Dolly Parton. Others scheduled to take the stage include top nominee Toby Keith, Shania Twain, Alan Jackson, and Brooks & Dunn.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

Lana (Kristin Kreuk) is startled when a photo reveals the resemblance between Clark (Tom Welling) and a man suspected of killing her aunt four decades earlier in the new episode "Relic." Clark believes his look-alike was his Kryptonian father Jor-El, so he uses a medallion to look into the past and try to disprove — or confirm — his hunch.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Ed

Carol's (Julie Bowen) possible move to New York to pursue a writing career may have an impact on all of Stuckeyville in this new episode. Ed (Tom Cavanagh) might decide to sell the bowling alley and move with her, prompting Mike (Josh Randall) to start seeking someone to take Ed's place. Molly (Lesley Boone) is torn between her beau (guest star Tom Wilson) and an appealing risk-taker (guest star Reg Rogers).

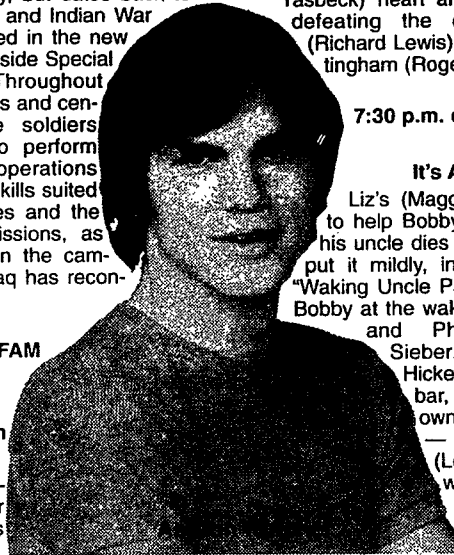

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

National Geographic

The United States' elite military brigade — which has seen plenty of action lately, but dates back to the French and Indian War — is profiled in the new episode "Inside Special Forces." Throughout the decades and centuries, the soldiers selected to perform covert operations have had skills suited to the times and the specific missions, as their role in the campaign in Iraq has reconfirmed.

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie:
Robin Hood: Men in Tights
Producer-director Mel Brooks went back to the tainted well of his failed 1975 Sherwood sitcom, "When Things Were Rotten," for this 1993 feature. Robin Hood (Cary Elwes) finds the key to Maid Marian's (Amy Yasbeck) heart and chastity belt by defeating the evil Prince John (Richard Lewis) and Sheriff of Nottingham (Roger Rees).

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

It's All Relative

Liz's (Maggie Lawson) efforts to help Bobby (Reid Scott) after his uncle dies get complicated, to put it mildly, in the new episode "Waking Uncle Paddy." As she joins Bobby at the wake, she asks Simon and Philip (Christopher Sieber, John Benjamin Hickey) to assist at the bar, and they put their own stamp on the place — much to Mace's (Lenny Clarke) anger when he finds out.

The O.C.

With summer over, the gang heads for school in the new episode "The Heights." The bond between Ryan and Marissa (Benjamin McKenzie, Mischa Barton) has strengthened, but Luke (Chris Carmack) wants Marissa back. Though she shuns Seth (Adam Brody), Summer (Rachel Bilson) seethes over his relationship with Anna (Samaire Armstrong). Sandy (Peter Gallagher) is offered a case that would pit him against Kirsten's (Kelly Rowan) father.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Angel

Angel (David Boreanaz) needs help in taking down an Aztec ancient who requires a hero's heart every 50 years to survive in the new episode "The Cautionary Tale of Numero Cinco." He recruits a retired wrestler (guest star Danny Mora) who has his own vendetta against the enemy and happens to work at Wolfram & Hart.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Tru Calling

Tru (Eliza Dushku) gets an appeal from a firefighter to go back a day and save his life, which he lost while trying to rescue two youngsters from a blaze in an apartment building, in the new episode "Putting Out Fires." In tracing his steps, she begins to fall for him, and her emotions could cloud her mission.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Friends

Greg Kinnear ("As Good as It Gets") guest stars as Ross' (David Schwimmer) rival for Charlie's (Aisha Tyler) affections in the new episode "The One With Ross' Grant." Kinnear plays a scientist who has the power to give Ross a coveted grant — but he'll do it only if Ross ends things with Charlie, who is the scientist's ex-girlfriend. Kinnear and Tyler were hosts of the now-defunct E! Entertainment Television program "Talk Soup" at different times.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

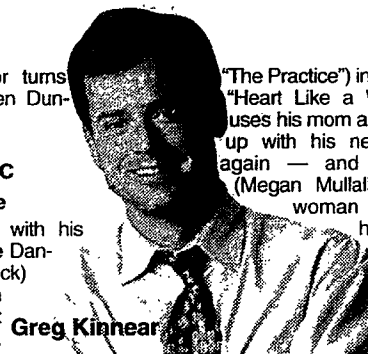

On the verge of stating her love for Henry (Michael McMillian), Holly (Amanda Bynes) feels she first must resolve her feelings for Vince (Nick Zano) in the new episode "Absence Makes the Heart Grow ... Never Mind." Val (Jennie Garth) is stunned, during a business trip, when her hotel-room neighbor turns out to be Peter (Stephen Dunham).

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

Out for an afternoon with his mother (guest star Blythe Danner), Will (Eric McCormack) has an encounter with another gay man (guest star Dylan McDermott,

Greg Kinnear

"The Practice") in the new episode "Heart Like a Wheelchair." Will uses his mom as a pawn to meet up with his new acquaintance again — and again. Karen's (Megan Mullally) hunt for the woman who stole her husband leads to a surprising meeting with her own father (guest star John Cleese).

Joan of Arcadia

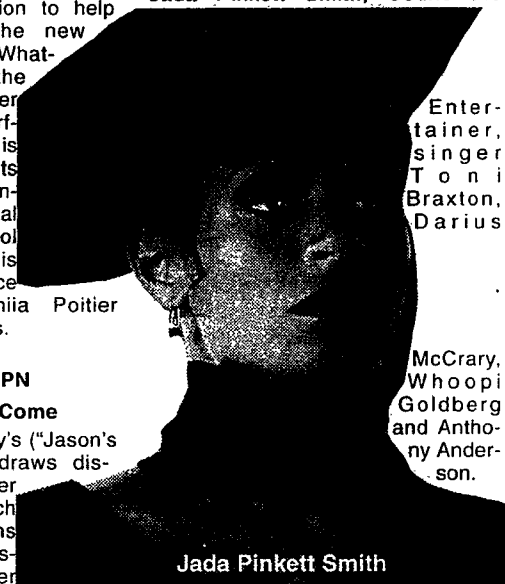

Joan (Amber Tamblyn) acts on a heavenly recommendation to help people in need in the new episode "Death Be Not What-ever." She becomes the baby sitter for a youngster (guest star David Dorfman, "The Ring") who is preoccupied with thoughts of death. Will (Joe Mantegna) tries to keep racial tensions under control after a black man is assaulted by two police officers. Sydney Tamiia Poitier ("Abby") also guest stars.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Movie: Kingdom Come

Director Doug McHenry's ("Jason's Lyric") 2001 comedy draws disparate relatives together when the family patriarch dies. Many skeletons emerge from various closets, leading to deeper understandings on some counts — and deeper chasms on others. The ensemble cast includes LL Cool J, Jada Pinkett Smith, Cedric the

Jada Pinkett Smith

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Boston Public

A caller to the teen hotline feels volunteer Bixby (guest star Dennis Miller) has violated the operation's confidentiality agreement in the new episode "Chapter Seventy-Three." Carmen (Natalia Baron) reveals an unsuspected part of her past. Marla (Loretta Devine) asks Harper (Chi McBride) to act as sperm donor as she attempts in vitro fertilization.

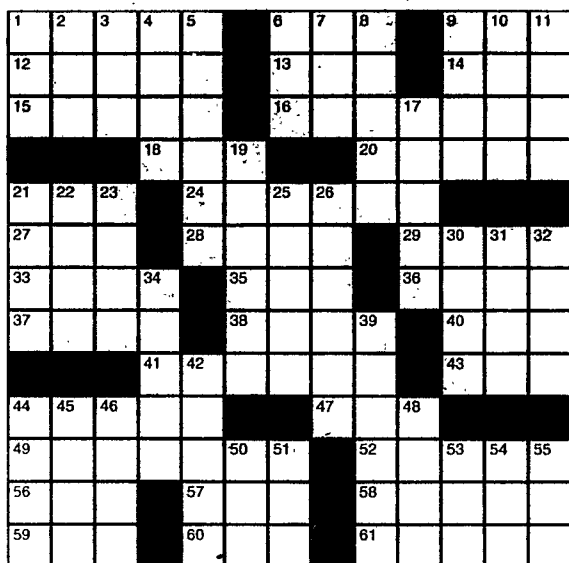

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Kelly Ripa's daytime talk-show partner, Regis Philbin, makes a guest appearance on her prime-time show in the new episode "Car Commercial." He plays a used-car salesman who offers Faith (Ripa) a free vehicle if she'll co-star with him in an ad. He doesn't expect her to overshadow him, which is exactly what happens. Hope (Faith Ford) is upset when Charley (Ted McGinley) fails to recall the anniversary of their first kiss.

College Football

Navy and Notre Dame continue their storied rivalry today, and you might say the Midshipmen are due for a win. The Middles have lost to the Irish 39 straight times, the longest dominance of one team over another in NCAA history. Navy came oh, so close to breaking the streak last year, but they weren't able to hold an eight point lead with five minutes left. QBs Craig Canedo of Navy and Carlyle Holiday of Notre Dame lead their teams.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: 102 Dalmatians

Cruella De Vil (Glenn Close) is out of prison and cured of her obsession with making a Dalmatian fur coat. But, her parole officer (Alice Evans) isn't so sure Cruella's rehabilitation is permanent — and she's right. Soon, our anti-heroine is back on her Dalmatian hunt with a vengeance. Gerard Depardieu, Ioan Gruffudd and Eric Idle also star in this 2000 sequel to 1996's live-action remake of the Disney cartoon classic.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: The Longest Day

Darryl F. Zanuck, the legendary studio mogul behind 20th Century Fox, personally supervised this mammoth 1962 war drama that re-creates D-Day. The cost of the cast probably forced the making of the film — shot by three directors — in black and white, since the budget had to accommodate stars such as Richard Burton, John Wayne, Henry Fonda, Robert Mitchum, Sean Connery, Peter Lawford, Rod Steiger and Robert Wagner.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: The Graduate

Mike Nichols received a richly deserved Oscar for his smart, witty direction of this 1967 comedy about a young man who is seduced by his mother's friend, then falls in love with the woman's daughter. Dustin Hoffman's seemingly artless performance in the title role, backed by the haunting Simon & Garfunkel musical score, deftly captured the spirit of a generation. Anne Bancroft and Katharine Ross also star.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets

A mysterious force threatens Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry in the totally captivating second movie adapted from J.K. Rowling's novels. Harry, Ron and Hermione (Daniel Radcliffe, Rupert Grint, Emma Watson) must find out what is causing people known as Muddbloods from becoming petrified; otherwise, the school will be closed. Robbie Coltrane, Kenneth Branagh and Richard Harris co-star in this 2002 tale.

9 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Cliffhanger

The scenery, not the hero, is rocky in this 1993 Sylvester Stallone adventure. The star plays a mountain climber and rescue worker who is summoned by a gang of high-flying thieves after their plane crashes on a snowy peak. He and a peer (Michael Rooker) soon discover that this is no routine rescue when the crooks greet them with guns. John Lithgow and Janine Turner co-star, but the stuntmen steal the show.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"FINDING NEMO": This engaging fantasy confirms that the magic of the collaboration between the Disney studio and the Pixar computer-animation firm is intact. Albert Brooks provides the voice of Marlin, a fish who goes after his son Nemo (voice of Alexander Gould), who has been abducted and placed in the fish tank of a dentist's office. Dad gets help from an absent-minded peer named Dory (voice of Ellen DeGeneres). Willem Dafoe, Brad Garrett and Allison Janney also are heard. DVD extras: "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; short subjects; backstage tour of Pixar studio; preview of Pixar's "The Incredibles"; "Fisharades" game; virtual aquariums. * (G) "LEGALLY BLONDE 2: RED WHITE & BLONDE": Reese Witherspoon again makes the movie by returning as eternal optimist Elle Woods in this comedy sequel, which benefits from keeping Witherspoon front-and-center when the script dips. Fired from a law firm for crusading against lab testing of animals, Elle takes her battle directly to Washington, D.C., where she links up with a supposedly like-minded congresswoman (Sally Field). Bob Newhart is fun as a savvy doorman. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by cast members; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; outtakes; LeAnn Rimes music video; photo gallery.  (PG-13: P)

Video Vantage

"EIGHT CRAZY NIGHTS": The title refers to the duration of Hannukah, the end-of-year Jewish holiday celebration that Adam Sandler turns on its ear in this animated, feature-length comedy likely to appeal most to members of the faith who have a big sense of humor. The several voices provided by Sandler include that of the central character, a hard-partyer who has to fulfill community service as a referee for a youth basketball league. Other voices are supplied by Rob Schneider, Jon Lovitz, Kevin Nealon and Tyra Banks. DVD extras: audio commentary by cast members; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; multiple angles on scenes; HBO "First Look" special; music video; short subject.  (PG-13: AS, P)

"THE HONEYMOONERS: THE CLASSIC 39 EPISODES": Baby, it's the greatest! Such is the feeling of many fans of the mid-1950s comedy series that affirmed Jackie Gleason and Art Carney as one of the top comedy teams in television history. Their characters, bus driver Ralph Kramden and handyman Ed Norton, go through their misadventures as Brooklyn neighbors, in a five-DVD set of all the episodes from the show's CBS run. Audrey Meadows and Joyce Randolph play wives Alice and Trixie. DVD extras: retrospective special hosted by Meadows; the series' original opening and closing sequences. * (Not rated: AS)

"FRIENDS: THE COMPLETE FIFTH SEASON": As the NBC comedy series nears the end of its run, here's a chance to experience some of its funniest episodes. One of them ranks with the show's classics, as "The One Where Everybody Finds Out" dooms the effort by Monica and Chandler (Courteney Cox Arquette, Matthew Perry) to keep their romance a secret.

All parties end up in Las Vegas, where it's anyone's guess - and ultimately, a big surprise - who gets married on the spur of the moment. Jennifer Aniston, David Schwimmer, Lisa Kudrow and Matt LeBlanc also star. DVD extras: audio commentary by creator-producers Marta Kaufman, David Crane and Kevin S. Bright on selected episodes; "making-of" documentaries.  (Not rated: AS, P)

"THE X-FILES: THE COMPLETE EIGHTH SEASON": Or, the season that added more agents to the attempt by FBI agents Mulder and Scully to prove "The Truth is Out There." David Duchovny began to limit his participation in the series, with Mulder being taken away by aliens - so Robert Patrick ("Terminator 2: Judgment Day") joined the show as Doggett, the pregnant Scully's (Gillian Anderson) new partner. Annabeth Gish also came aboard here as Agent Monica Reyes. DVD extras: audio commentary by directors or producers on selected episodes; "making-of" documentary; featurettes profiling characters; deleted scenes; TV spots; international clips (in foreign languages); DVD-ROM game.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"DUMB AND DUMBERER: WHEN HARRY MET LLOYD" (Nov. 11): Eric Christian Olsen and Derek Richardson assume the roles of the rather dense pals in this comedy prequel. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"TERMINATOR 3: RISE OF THE MACHINES" (Nov. 11): The cyborg (Arnold Schwarzenegger) returns from the future to protect a rebel-to-be (Nick Stahl). (R: AS, P, V)

On TV

The Force is with Cartoon Network's 'Star Wars: Clone Wars'

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Science fiction has long been fascinated by faster than light travel. Cartoon Network's "Star Wars: Clone Wars" moves nearly as quickly.

Divided into 20 rapidly paced two- to three-minute installments, the "epic micro series" begins Friday, Nov. 7, with "Chapter One." The first 10 cartoons run weeknights until Nov. 20. The next 10 are scheduled to air in the spring.

To pacify fans who simply can't wait until "Star Wars: Episode III" opens May 25, 2005, the animated saga picks up where "Star Wars: Episode II - Attack of the Clones" left off. The Clone Wars, a civil revolt, have begun with the old Republic fighting forces of evil. The Jedi Knights lead the Republic's Clone Army against fearsome enemies in new venues including the water planet of the Mon Calamari.

Copies of the shorts are guarded fiercely, although they will soon be released on DVD and on a paid Web site. George Lucas, known for his secrecy regarding this franchise, gave strict directives on what Cartoon Network could do with the story.

The cartoons are well done and richly detailed. Computer animation is only used when the spaceships move because hand-drawn art would have been too tedious to do, particularly under a tight deadline, Genndy Tartakovsky, director and producer, says. Animated characters closely resemble their film counterparts, but they were not intended to be mirror images.

Though it is the world's most beloved film series, animation has an advantage over film in that the artists can simply draw whatever they imagine without fretting over whether it is possible. A movie director must contend with pesky annoyances such as actors, props and special effects.

Indeed, Lucas is impressed with Tartakovsky's homage to his work. He already knew Tartakovsky from his cartoons "Samurai Jack" and "Dexter's Laboratory."

"I got to speak with him for the first time this week," Tartakovsky says of Lucas, his voice full of awe. "He watched it with his 10-year-old son and they enjoyed it very much. I was very happy. It's like God called you."

Lucas has that effect on his disciples, and Tartakovsky and his colleague, Paul Rudish, art director of the "Clone Wars" project, are diehard "Star Wars" fans.

"I stopped counting," Rudish says of how many times he saw the movies.

He saw the first "Star Wars" seven times in the theater when it opened in 1977, and he was 7.

"I have seen it countless times," Tartakovsky says. "There is not one person at the studio who hasn't seen it at least 50 times. If it's on TV, you watch it, and when the laser disc comes out, you watch it again."

Nevertheless, Tartakovsky had reservations about working within such time restrictions. "I was really suspicious of what three minutes is," he says. He experimented by editing "Samurai Jack" episodes down to three minutes and was happily surprised to discover he could relay a story in such a short time. "You can have a story, a lot of characters and you can fit in almost 80 scenes," he says.

He manages to pack a tremendous amount of action in a couple of minutes, as spaceships carom about and new aliens dart across the screen. Yoda, the sage Jedi Master, and many other familiar characters are instantly recognizable.

Judging by the first five episodes (all that was ready as of press time), there is little dialogue. The sound effects are terrific, and are accompanied by stretches of silence.

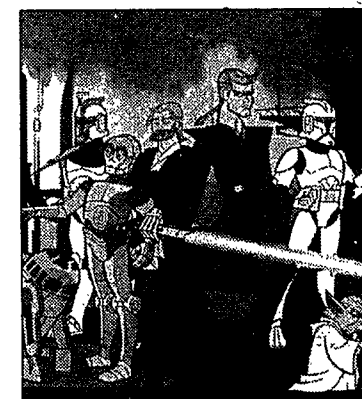

"I love to have contrast," Tartakovsky says. "A lot of people go crazy with series, he recalls his reaction "was a mixture of pooping my pants, then I got real distant and tried to put a professional spin on it." He says he remembers thinking, "This would be wonderful, but I am not going to believe it until we are doing it and it is actually done, so we'll just play it real cool."
